Collection Description

Biographical Note

Born in Alabama in 1874, Charles W. Lokey attended the Southern Medical College where he graduated from the dental department in 1897. From there, Lokey returned to Alabama where he began his dental practice in Talladega for 13 years before moving to Birmingham. During his career, Lokey served as president of the Alabama Dental Association from 1935-1936 and as president of the Birmingham Dental Society from 1929-1930. He was the first person in Alabama to make radiographs for teeth at a time when dental films were not available. He also wrote the first dental hygiene law for the state of Alabama.

Charles W. Lokey died in 1965 at the age of 90.

Biographical Source: The Emory Alumnus, v. 23, no. 6, June 1947.
