Collection Description

Biographical Note
Established in 1970, the Southeastern Regional Medical Library Program (SERMLP) was a cooperative health science library and information program serving the southeastern United States as well as Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands. Headquartered at the A. W. Calhoun Medical Library (now the Woodruff Health Sciences Center Library), the program emphasized document delivery service that was provided by the resource libraries in the region. This program was funded partly through the National Library of Medicine and a grant through the United States Public Health Service. SERMLP absorbed into the larger Southeastern/Atlantic Regional Medical Library Program in 1982.

Scope and Content Note
The records of the Southeastern Regional Medical Library Program (SERMLP) consists entirely of administrative files including annual and quarterly reports, budget files, committee files including mostly minutes from the advisory board, ad hoc committees, and other committees. Also included are publications and files from the National Library of Medicine, these files mostly consisting of correspondence, financial documents, and meeting minutes from the Research Medical Library Director's meetings.

Arrangement Note
Organized into administrative files, committee files, and other files, and then alphabetically by title.
