Collection DescriptionBiographical Note

Emory College was chartered to the Georgia Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1836, and the original campus was erected in Oxford, Georgia. The College was rechartered as Emory University and relocated to Atlanta, Ga., in 1914. In 1915, Emory University Academy was established as a four year academy in response to "the need, previously apparent in the South, of a thoroughly equipped Academy, in which boys may be prepared for College or University, in full conformity with the present standard requirements." Later in 1929, Emory Junior College was established, which marked a return to a college-level program of study. In 1947, Emory at Oxford sought and received accreditation by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools as Georgia's first four-year junior college. The campus was known as Emory at Oxford until 1963 when it became known as Oxford College of Emory University.
