 collection description

Biographical Note
Emory College was chartered to the Georgia Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1836, and the original campus was erected in Oxford, Georgia. The College was rechartered as Emory University and relocated to Atlanta, Ga., in 1914. In 1915, Emory University Academy was established as a four year academy in response to "the need, previously apparent in the South, of a thoroughly equipped Academy, in which boys may be prepared for College or University, in full conformity with the present standard requirements." Later in 1929, Emory Junior College was established, which marked a return to a college-level program of study. In 1947, Emory at Oxford sought and received accreditation by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools as Georgia's first four-year junior college. The campus was known as Emory at Oxford until 1963 when it became known as Oxford College of Emory University.

Scope and Content Note
The Oxford College Photograph collection consists of photographs from buildings including residence halls and historical buildings, clubs and societies, events including graduation ceremonies, homecoming, "Oxford Day" events, and campus parties, and locations including campus scenes and historical markers. Most of the collection consists of photos of individuals including faculty, staff, and students; these photographs represent campus and student life from the early 20th century to current day.

Arrangement Note
Organized into 5 series: (1) Buildings, (2) Clubs and Societies, (3) Events, (4) Locations, and (5) People and Organizations.
