

NORTHCOTT, REX J.

Rex J. Northcott diary, 1910

Emory University
Pitts Theology Library
1531 Dickey Drive, Suite 560
Atlanta, GA 30322
404-727-4166

Descriptive Summary

Creator: Northcott, Rex J.
Title: Rex J. Northcott diary, 1910
Call Number: Manuscript Collection No. 141
Extent: 1 volume
Abstract: Contains one diary detailing Northcott's everyday life, including his time visiting the Anglican Community of the Resurrection at Mirfield.
Language: Materials entirely in English.

Administrative Information

Restrictions on Access

Unrestricted access.

Terms Governing Use and Reproduction

All requests subject to limitations noted in departmental policies on reproduction.

Citation

[after identification of item(s)], Rex J. Northcott Diary, Archives and Manuscript Dept., Pitts Theology Library, Emory University.

Processing

Processed by Nancy H. Watkins, 1996

Collection Description

Biographical Note

Rex J. Northcott was an English school master at Darrescroft School at Brindlington.

Scope and Content Note

This diary contains entries about Northcott's everyday life and about time he spent visiting the Anglican Community of the Resurrection at Mirfield. Northcott attended Mass daily, and many of the entries record his thoughts on the sermons he heard at these services. The entry for October 3 includes his reaction after reading an interview of Thomas Edison. A letter to Northcott from his mother is included in the diary.

Emory Libraries provides copies of its finding aids for use only in research and private study. Copies supplied may not be copied for others or otherwise distributed without prior consent of the holding repository.

