Collection Description

Scope and Content Note

This bound manuscript, attributed to an unidentified Anglican clergyman, contains over 400 pages of notes, sermons, and other writings, and has Greek and Latin quotations throughout. There are several sermons, primarily eulogies, about various women, including Eliza James, Sarah Ward, and Margaret Tomlinson. The manuscript also contains writings on the topic of Easter. Of additional interest is the inclusion of at least one piece concerning the English Civil War and the death of King Charles.

Emory Libraries provides copies of its finding aids for use only in research and private study. Copies supplied may not be copied for others or otherwise distributed without prior consent of the holding repository.
