Collection Description

Biographical Note

Charles Edward Fuller was born in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on January 23, 1907 to John Charles and Elizabeth Kohn Fuller. He grew up in the Cheltenham township and graduated from Cheltenham High School in 1925. After graduating from Dickinson Seminary in 1926 he became a supply pastor in the Methodist Episcopal Church. He received his B.A. in Bible and Theology from Juniata College in 1936. In 1938 he received both a M.A. in History and Literature of Religion from Northwestern University and a M.Div. from Garrett Theological Seminary. Fuller completed his formal education with a Ph.D. in Anthropology from Northwestern University in 1955.

Fuller was a Methodist pastor and missionary as well as a scholar. He was received "on trial" in 1930 in the Central Pennsylvania Conference and into "full connection" in 1933. In the Central Pennsylvania Conference he served the charges of Riddlesburg and Burnt Cabins, and he served the Cherry Tree charge in the Western Pennsylvania Conference. Fuller also served charges in the Missouri East Conference in the 1950s. From 1939 to 1951 he served as a missionary in southeast Africa including Mozambique from 1939 to 1942, South Africa from 1942-1945, and Southern Rhodesia where he was Superintendent of Schools from 1947 to 1951. The Methodist missionary was also the associate editor of The Africa Christian Advocate during his tenure in Southern Rhodesia.

Except for brief assignments or visits to Africa during the 1960s, Fuller spent his career in the United States in academia. He was a professor of theology and anthropology at the Missouri School of Religion at the University of Missouri, Columbia from 1953 to 1964; a professor of anthropology at Scarritt College in Nashville, Tennessee, from 1964 to 1967; and a professor of anthropology at St. John's University from 1968 to 1972 where he was Chair of the Department of Sociology and Anthropology from 1970 until his retirement at the end of 1972. Following his retirement Fuller was a visiting professor at Florida Southern College in Lakeland for seven years. He lived the remainder of his life in Rabun County, Georgia.

Fuller married Edna Marie Worthing on June 6, 1931 and had two children, Charles Edward, Jr. and Judith Anne. He died on March 17, 1990 in Clayton, Georgia.

Scope and Content Note

This collection consists of writings by Charles Edward Fuller and others regarding missionaries in Africa, African anthropology, and social issues and political events in Africa. The collection also contains other writings by Fuller including sermons, essays, and dramas. Fuller collected African periodicals, especially those produced by the Methodist church, as well as other publications pertaining to missionary work in Africa. His subject files consist primarily of printed newsletters, articles from publications, printed letters from missionaries, and reports from various agencies. The bulk of the written material is from 1937 to 1980. Course material from Fuller's classes include some notes and syllabi but the bulk of this material consists of overhead transparencies, maps and other visual aids.

A major component of the collection is Fuller's photographic images of Africa taken from the late 1940s through the 1960s. His slides document places, cultures, people, worship and social functions, plants, and animals as well as vacations, family, and friends in the United States. Many of the slides document the activities of the United Methodist Church in south Africa. Among the specific countries and places where photographic images were taken are Botswana, Victoria Falls in Zimbabwe, Inhambane in Mozambique, and South Africa. The slides are numbered according to the original unit in which each group was housed, i.e., carousel, slide box, or loose in a paper bag. Each unique grouping or unit was assigned a number. Handwritten slide listings that appeared to accompany a unit of slides are identified with the unit number and housed in a separate folder, however, researchers should be aware that many of the listings do not seem to correspond with the images in the unit. A detailed slide listing is available in the repository.
