Scope and Content Note

This journal is a handwritten account of Fred Whitehead's spiritual journey up to his ordination in the Church of England in 1902. He titles his journal, "From the Counter to the Pulpit: The story of my training for the Priesthood, 1889-1902 - A Record of Divine Guidance". Whitehead refers to his "ministry of 37 years" toward the end of his account, which indicates that the journal was probably written about 1939. In the journal he writes in great detail about his struggle between working in the secular business environment and working with various missions and youth organizations to provide spiritual guidance to adolescents.
