Collection Description

Scope and Content Note

This collection includes portraits of distinguished men and women from the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries. These individuals, from across Western Europe and North America, were leaders in academic, civic, and religious disciplines, contributing to the intellectual, artistic, or spiritual well-being of their respective societies. Among these portraits are historians, poets, religious leaders, Biblical scholars, and intellectuals from a variety of other fields. Notably, many of the individuals in this collection contributed entries to James Hastings' Dictionary of Christ and the Gospels (1906 edition, 2 vols), Dictionary of the Bible (First edition, 4 vols and 1909 edition), and Encyclopaedia of Religion and Ethics (1908-1927, 12 vols). Not every portrait has been identified; uncertain or partial identifications are marked with a question mark (?) in the container list. Part of this collection includes portraits sent to and collected by James Hastings, although the provenance of the collection as a whole is unknown prior to it being acquired by Pitts Theology Library in 1985.

Arrangement Note

Materials were kept in the order in which they were received.
