Collection Description

Biographical Note

Carl R. Holladay is the Charles Howard Candler Professor Emeritus of New Testament at Candler School of Theology, Emory University. His is a popular lecturer at colleges and universities and his research, focusing on Luke-Acts, Hellenistic Judaism, and Christology, joins classical academic scholarship and professional application.

Holladay was born on October 18th, 1943, in Huntingdon, Tennessee. He began his undergraduate education at Freed-Hardman College until he moved to Texas to complete his degree at Abilene Christian University in 1965 where he also received his Masters in Divinity in 1969. After completing his MDiv, he attended Princeton for a Masters of Theology (1970) and finished his Doctor of Philosophy degree at the University of Cambridge in Hellenistic Judaism and early Christianity in 1975.

Holladay's teaching career began in 1975 at Yale Divinity School. In 1980 he came to Candler School of Theology, where he remained until retirement. In addition to teaching New Testament and Early Christian studies, Holladay also served as the academic dean for a decade while at Candler. In 2002 he was named the Charles Howard Candler Professor of New Testament.

Holladay is a member of the Society of Biblical Literature (SBL) and the Societas Novi Testamenti Studiorum (SNTS), where he served on the executive committee. From 2016-2017 Holladay served as the president of SNTS. In 2017, he was elected into membership in the American Academy of Arts and Sciences. Holladay has also served on the Board of Directors for the Christian Scholarship Foundation (1983-2012), the Fulbright Association (2012-), and the American Turkish Friendship Council (2008-2014).

Among Holladay's many scholarly contributions are his critical editions of Hellenistic Jewish authors and his work on New Testament Christology and Luke-Acts. Some of his books include Fragments from Hellenistic Jewish Authors (Chico: Scholars Press, 1983-1996), Critical Introduction to the New Testament (Nashville: Abingdon, 2005), Introduction to the New Testament: Reference Edition (Waco: Baylor University Press, 2017), and Acts: A Commentary (Louisville: Westminster John Knox Press, 2016).
