Collection Description

Historical Note

The history of clinical pastoral education in the United States is a long and complicated tale which has been ably told elsewhere. By the early 1920s, attempts of several sorts had been made to combine religion and medical care, or religion and social work. But the first formulation which focused on supervised training of seminarians or clergy in an institutional setting came in 1925 with Anton T. Boisen's program with five students at Worcester State Hospital. Boisen had himself suffered a psychotic break, and had recovered with a conviction to pursue what he regarded as the theological dimensions of such trauma. His first training program thus was designed to address theological issues through work with Aliving human documents. Boisen's program continued, and in 1930 became the Council for Clinical Training of Theological Students, Inc. Through the 1930s the CCTTS operated in only a few training centers, and both supervisors and students tended to be individuals disillusioned by traditional theological studies. Training programs were developed in general hospitals and in penal institutions as well as in mental hospitals.

Following World War II, the clinical pastoral education movement began to grow more rapidly as theological schools increasingly recognized the value of clinical training. Several organizations with different emphases and methods had emerged in the field, and by the 1950s it became clear that the movement would benefit from a more unified effort. Initial attempts to develop standards and policies for CPE were not successful, and it was only after nearly a decade of negotiations that a consolidated national organization was created.

The Association for Clinical Pastoral Education was formed on November 17, 1967 by the merger of four organizations: the Association of Clinical Pastoral Educators (formerly, the Southern Baptist Association for Clinical Pastoral Education), the Council for Clinical Training, Inc., the Institute of Pastoral Care, Inc., and the Department of Institutional Chaplaincy and Clinical Pastoral Education - Lutheran Council in the U.S.A.

While the formation of the ACPE joined together four organizations, a decentralization of function which had already begun, at least within the CCT, continued following the merger. Training of students and other regular operations increasingly became the work of local centers and of the regions, while the national organization turned its attention more fully toward development of standards, accreditation of training centers, certification of training supervisors and promotion of the CPE movement.

Following a time of consolidation of the new organization, the ACPE began to work more directly with other organizations having similar interests, such as the American Association of Pastoral Counselors, the Association of Mental Health Chaplains and the National Association of Catholic Chaplains.

Scope and Content Note

The records of the Association for Clinical Pastoral Education consist of over 130 cubic feet of material. The records for the period up to 1967 are primarily those of the Council for Clinical Training, Inc. (formerly known as the Council for Clinical Training of Theological Students, Inc.), one of the four antecedent bodies which merged to form the Association for Clinical Pastoral Education in 1967. Events which led toward the merger are well documented by correspondence, reports and records of meetings. Archives of the other three antecedent bodies and papers of major figures in the field of clinical pastoral education which further document the roots of ACPE are located in other repositories.

The records of the ACPE in this record group are primarily those produced or received by the Central Office. Basic documentation of regional operations is available but there is little coverage of individual supervisors, training centers, or seminaries, particularly for the post-merger years.

As the field of clinical pastoral education developed, it was characterized by evolving methodologies, changing views on the role of the pastoral clinician and increasing realization of the need for unified standards and policies. A 1958 analysis of the Council for Clinical Training described its growth to that date as “relatively spontaneous and exploratory.” Myriad letters were exchanged, committees formed and reports written in an effort to plot an appropriate course for clinical pastoral education. Representative decision making and leadership rather than strong, central executive leadership have characterized the CCT and the ACPE, a factor contributing to certain diffuseness in their archival records. The documentation of theoretical and functional exploration and change which is a focus of this record group has a counterpoint in the many folders which document the mundane month to month operations of the organization’s component parts.

Series 1

Organization and Policy Records, 1930-2015

Boxes 1-17, 306-310, 351

Scope and Content Note

These records provide information about organizational and policy development. The earlier records primarily concern the Council for Clinical Training. Activities leading toward the formation of the ACPE are also documented. The reports, documents and correspondence of Series I are not those of specific committees, training centers or conferences. Rather they provide an overview of structure and policy which is fleshed out by the more extensive records of the following series. A number of papers and interviews tracing the history of the CPE movement are available in this series.

Series 2

Committee, Task Force, and Network Files, 1933-2005, undated
Boxes 18-96, 310-320

Scope and Content Note

Contains committee, task force, and network records consist of minutes, reports, correspondence and other materials. Thorough coverage is available for the Board of Governors of the CCTTS/CCT, for its Administrative Committee (later the Executive Committee) which conducted the regular business of the organization, and for its Accreditation and Standards Committees. Partial coverage is available for the Board of Governors and Executive Committee of the IPC. Post-merger ACPE records include minutes and agendas from ACPE governing bodies, the Certification and Accreditation Committee (later split into two committees), and for numerous other specialized committees. Since the committee records of this series were maintained primarily by the national ACPE office, much of the more recent correspondence in the series is that of the ACPE Executive Director (who is an ex officio member of every ACPE committee).

Arrangement Note

Organized into 4 subseries: (2.1) Council for Clinical Training, (2.2) Institute for Pastoral Care, (2.3) Joint Committees Moving Toward Merger, and (2.4) Association for Clinical Pastoral Education.

Series 3

Records of Individual and Institutional Members, 1930-1995 Boxes 97-156, 244-262, 321-343

Scope and Content Note

Subseries 1 includes lists and published directories of certified CPE supervisors, accredited CPE training centers, and member seminaries.

Subseries 2 consists primarily of files on active training centers compiled by the CCT, arranged alphabetically by state in which the center is located, and thereunder alphabetically by center name. The files contain correspondence documenting the local concerns, routine operations and policy-in-the-making of CCT training centers. Also included are more recent samples of materials sent to the Accreditation Commission by training centers seeking accreditation or preparing for periodic accreditation reviews, as well as some histories of individual training centers collected in 1995-1997.

Subseries 3 consists of National Office files on training centers which are no longer accredited by ACPE. The files contain materials related to the accreditation process, including reports of accreditation site visit teams and self-study documents prepared by the training centers themselves. Files are arranged alphabetically by state, and thereunder alphabetically by training center name.

Subseries 4 contains forms submitted to the National Office by training centers at the end of each unit of CPE. The forms indicate the dates of each unit and include basic statistical information on the numbers of students who participated. The reports are arranged chronologically, and, from the mid-1970s on, by region thereunder.

Subseries 5 consists of correspondence files which document the relationship between the national CCT office and its member seminaries. Arranged alphabetically by seminary name. A cross-reference guide to seminary names is located at the end of this finding aid.

Subseries 6 contains confidential files developed for the purpose of making certification decisions about individuals seeking the status of supervisor. Included here are application materials, records of interviews, examples of written work, reports on training and records of committee decisions on certification. The confidential files also contain material about early CPE students, particularly those who trained under Anton T. Boisen and Carroll A. Wise.

Although the majority of the files in this subseries date from the pre-ACPE years of the Council of Clinical Training, there are materials on individual supervisory candidates collected by the ACPE Certification Committee from 1988-1993. These materials were selected by the Commission, with permission from each candidate, as representative samples for inclusion in the archives. Names and identifying information of CPE students supervised by each candidate have been redacted from the files.

Special permission is required for use of these confidential files. Please contact the Archives and Manuscripts Department of Pitts Theology Library for details.

Series 4
Conference Records, 1932-1999
Boxes 157-167, 344

Scope and Content Note

The records of conferences in Series IV include proceedings, correspondence, papers, addresses, and reports. The pre-1967 records are primarily those of the Council for Clinical Training; Institute of Pastoral Care conferences are documented only from 1959 through the jointly sponsored conferences held just prior to the formation of the ACPE. The pre-1967 records contain material concerned with preparatory arrangements for conferences as well as with the conferences themselves. The ACPE established Annual Conference Committees to prepare for conferences, so for 1969 and following years preparatory materials are among the Committee Records of Series II and this series contains only proceedings and records of activities held at the conferences. Later conferences were thematic in design (e.g., in 1966, "The Pastoral Supervisor and His Identity") and attracted papers and addresses centered on these themes. Records of the 1975 Conference which commemorated the 50th anniversary of CPE in the United States will be of particular interest to researchers of CPE history. Records of conferences of which the CCT or ACPE were participants but not sole sponsors can be found in Series VIII, Related Organizations.

Series 5

Regional Material, 1955-2000, undated

Boxes 168-193, 344-346

Scope and Content Note

This series documents the interface between the ACPE central office and its nine regions. Although the CCT did have regional divisions in the 1950s, it was only after the formation of the ACPE in 1967 that the authority to accredit training centers and certify supervisors became increasingly decentralized. It is now the regions which deal directly with the centers and supervisors, with the central office providing standards and advice. Series V includes correspondence between the central office and regional officers as well as records of regional meetings, conferences, and publications.

Series 6

Literature and Training Materials, 1930-2000, undated Boxes 194-212, 346-348

Scope and Content Note

The first subseries (Literature) includes more than two hundred folders of published and unpublished articles, papers and reports concerning issues and programs of the clinical pastoral education movement. Many of these were written by individuals active in the ACPE or its antecedent bodies and may be of interest to those researching the development of CPE policies and methodology. Additional reports and papers of this kind can be found among the Committee Records of Series II (e.g., Historical Committee and Research Committee) as well as among the conference records of Series IV. Writings by Anton T. Boisen in this section provide valuable documentation of his thoughts.

The training materials in the second section of this series include examples of training programs, course schedules and requirements, bibliographies, and case studies.

Subseries 3: Periodicals contains records of the ACPE's Journal of Pastoral Care, which was formerly published jointly by the CCT and IPC. The records include correspondence and minutes of meetings of the Board of Managers and of the Editorial Committee, as well as general correspondence and materials pertaining to special projects undertaken by the Journal. This series also documents a publication entitled Women in CPE which came to life and faded in the 1970s.

Arrangement Note

Organized into 3 subseries: (6.1) Literature, (6.2) Training Materials, and (6.3) Periodical Publications.

Series 8
Related Organizations, 1921-1993
Boxes 216-229, 350

Scope and Content Note

Subseries 1: Joint Activities with Related Organizations documents joint activities of the ACPE and its antecedents with organizations sharing similar interests. These joint activities sometimes were under the auspices of more inclusive organizations. The Inter-organizational Consultation and its off-shoot, the Council on Ministries in Specialized Settings, for example, were composed of a number of cooperating organizations including the ACPE, the American Association of Pastoral Counselors, the American Medical Association and the National Association of Catholic Chaplains.

Subseries 2: Denominational Bodies, National includes records documenting communications between the Council for Clinical Training and national denominational bodies.

Subseries 3: Denominational Bodies, Regional, State, Local includes records documenting communications between the Council for Clinical Training and regional, state, and local denominational bodies.

Subseries 4: Cooperative Church Bodies, National includes records documenting communications between the Council for Clinical Training and national cooperative church bodies.

Subseries 5: Cooperative Church Bodies, Regional, State, Local includes records documenting communications between the Council for Clinical Training and regional, state, and local cooperative church bodies.

Subseries 6: Miscellaneous Other Organizations includes materials concerning the Chicago Council for Clinical Training which was formed in protest against the council for Clinical Training in 1945. Also of considerable interest for the history of the CPE movement are early records from the New York Academy of Medicine and Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America's Joint Committee on Religion and Medicine.

Subseries 7: Development of CPE in Other Countries includes records dealing with the development of CPE in countries other than the U.S.A. This material supplements records found in Series II under the Committee on the Development of CPE in Other Countries and its successor, the Committee on the International Development of CPE.

Arrangement Note

Organized into 7 subseries: (8.1) Joint Activities with Related Organizations, (8.2) Denominational Bodies, National, (8.3) Denominational Bodies, Regional, State, Local, (8.4) Cooperative Church Bodies, National, (8.5) Cooperative Church Bodies, Regional, State, Local, (8.6) Miscellaneous Other Organizations, and (8.7) Development of CPE in Other Countries.
