Collection Description

Scope and Content Note

The Atlanta miscellany collection is an artificially created collection acquired through a number of small accessions. The collection contains items related to the history of Atlanta. Materials are related to city planning, race relations, Civil War history and the battle for Atlanta, Oakland Cemetery, Atlanta theaters, and the Cotton States and International Exposition. Some materials relate to Atlanta residents including Leo Katz, J.M. Gates, Richard VanLoan, and the Dozier family.
