Collection Description

Biographical Note
George Lawrence Forsythe Birdsong, Georgia plantation owner, huntsman and writer, was born February 25, the son of Benajah and Assa Ann Reese Birdsong. His cotton plantation was located ten miles south of Thomaston, Georgia in the Bellwood community. Here he engaged in hunting and the breeding of dogs and game chickens. He developed the famous Birdsong fox hounds which were predecessors of the July and Trigg breeds. Under the name “Larry” his articles and stories on dogs and hunting were published regularly by Joseph Addison Turner in The Countryman during 1863 and 1864. After the Civil War some articles were published in Turf, Field, and Farm.

Birdsong was Captain in command of the Upson County Guards when that unit was mustered for duty during the war, but his duties as Sheriff forced his resignation from that position. He then became Captain of the Upson Reserve Unit. He was also very active in church and Masonic affairs.

On November 28, 1839, Birdsong married Susan Frances Thweatt, daughter of Thomas and Katherine Hamil Thweatt. George Pressley, their first son, was born May 25, 1841. They had several other children one of whom, Henry Payette, was the grandfather of the donor. George L. F. Birdsong died August 18, 1869 after a long illness.

Scope and Content Note
The greater portion of the collection consists of 430 letters written between 1834 and 1875. Most are to G. L. F. Birdsong from correspondents ranging throughout the country and concern breeding and hunting with fox dogs. The most frequent correspondent, Thomas Y. Henry, gave Birdsong his first stock of the dogs which would later bear his name. Madison Kilpatrick, H. C. Trim and Amos E. Ward were also dog breeders of note who corresponded frequently with Birdsong. Letters written by William H. Bisdee and James T. Gee concern the breeding and fighting of game cocks. Family and plantation life are only incidentally mentioned in the correspondence.

The collection also contains: a ledger-type commonplace book with notes dealing with dogs, business receipts, quotations and poetry verses, as well as first drafts of several articles; loose sheets with drafts of articles; addresses given at Masonic meetings; poetry; news clippings; hunting magazines; and other miscellaneous printed matter.

Arrangement Note
Arranged by record type.
