Collection Description

Biographical Note

Denham Cason (1884-1964) owned and operated a general mercantile business in Jewell (Hancock County) Georgia during the first half of the twentieth century, having worked earlier with his father, Adam Rodgers Cason (1850-1924) and uncle, Hugh Bunyan Cason (1855-1933) in their general store, Cason Bros. This store later became A.R. and H.B. Cason and ceased operation ca. 1912-16. Following his association with Cason Bros., Denham Cason operated a vehicle business, selling buggies and harnesses, while also carrying on a farm operation involving peach and pecan orchards and running his own general store. In 1920 Denham Cason's business became Cason Bros. for a short time while he and his brother, Hugh Adam Cason, were partners.

Scope and Content Note

The collection consists of Denham Cason's family business records from 1866-1963 (bulk 1894-1927), including records related to the general store, variously named A.R. and H.B. Cason, and Cason Bros., owned by Adam Rodgers Cason and Hugh Bunyan Cason and those related to the business enterprises of Denham Cason.

Materials include daybooks (1878-1962), ledgers (1894-1944), cashbooks (1897-1916, 1920), invoices (1918-1925), canceled checks (1914-1927), and a small amount of business correspondence. The collection documents the finance and management of a general store in 20th century Georgia.

Arrangement Note

Arranged by record type.
