Collection DescriptionBiographical Note

Gylbert Garvin Coker (b. 1944) is a noted art history scholar, curator, and actor/artist. She holds a Bachelor of Fine Arts, Visual Art from Pratt Institute (New York, New York) in 1972; a Master of Arts, American Civilization at New York University (New York, New York) in 1982; a Master of Arts, Art history from Hunter College (New York, New York) in 1999; and a Ph.D. in Art Administration from Florida State University (Tallahassee, Florida) in 2010. Her dissertation covered the multiculturalism policy in museums and was a case study on the Pensacola Museum of Art (Pensacola, Florida). Coker trained at New York institutions including the Guggenheim Museum of Art, the Museum of Modern Art, and the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

Coker was a curator at the Studio Museum in Harlem. She set up the art department gallery and curated exhibitions at the Southern University of New Orleans (SUNO), as well as curated exhibitions at Florida Agriculture and Mechanical University (FAMU). She was also the acting Executive Director for the Children's Art Carnival and co-curator of the Art Across the Park projects in New York City in 1980 and 1982, an outdoor exhibition on which she worked with Horace Brockington and David Hammons. From 1999-2005, Coker was responsible for developing exhibitions for the Zora Neale Hurston Museum in Eatonville, Florida, and later was the curator for the Thomasville Cultural Center in Thomasville, Georgia. She also curated an exhibition on Bob Thompson (1978); a retrospective of Benny Andrews (which was one of his last exhibitions before his death); and Moulin Rouge: The Seeds of Modernity, which took a second look at the influence of African American music and dance as well as the influences of African, Asian, Caribbean, and Latin American cultures.

As an art critic, Coker was one of the first African American scholars to write for the Art in America and Arts journals and was responsible for introducing the art work of Bill Traylor to the public through an exhibit in 1978. Her reviews appeared in the Amsterdam News, The Village Voice, and local arts magazines and newspapers in New Orleans, Louisiana, and Tallahassee, Florida. She also exposed the people living in the Georgia and Florida areas to the floral images of Robert Mapplethorpe, Carrie Mae Weems, and a curated a group show of contemporary female artists.

As an actor Coker worked on several soap operas and a number of off-off Broadway productions. She was also the personal secretary to Mrs. Countee Cullen, serving as adviser and cataloger to the Charles Alston Estate and to Mrs. Palmer Hayden.
