Collection Description

Biographical Note

Joseph "Joe" Bryan Cumming, Jr. (1926-), was a journalist (1957-1961) and the Bureau chief (1961-1979) for Newsweek's Atlanta Bureau. He was born in Augusta, Georgia, to Joseph Bryan Cumming, Jr., and Virginia Burum. While Joe is conventionally the third Joseph Bryan Cumming, he is known personally and professionally as junior. He attended high school at the Academy of Richmond County and college at Augusta University (then the Junior College of Augusta). While serving as an Ensign in the United States Navy Reserve from 1944-1946, he pursued a Bachelor of Arts in history with a minor in political science from the University of the South (Sewanee, Tennessee) and graduated in 1947. He remained active as a volunteer in the U.S. Navy Reserve until 1962. In 1979, he enrolled in Emory University's Institute for the Liberal Arts, focusing on general studies; he completed his master's in the program in 1981. Cumming married Emily Wright in 1950 and the couple had four children: Joseph Bryan, IV, Walter, Douglas ("Doug"), and Anne.

As a journalist, Cumming often covered topics including civil rights, politics, literature, and the performing arts in the South. In 1965, Cumming covered the March on Washington and actively participated in the march. After retiring from Newsweek in 1979, he taught journalism in the University of West Georgia's Mass Communications and Theater department from 1981-1991. Cumming also had an interest in pedagogy and new ways of teaching; he wrote frequently on this topics after his retirement from Newsweek. In addition to his published articles and poems, Joe Cumming was the author of Bylines: Writings from the American South, 1963-1997 (2010) and co-author (with Doug Cumming and illustrator Walter Cumming) of The Family Secret (1983).

Joe and Emily were active members of their community, especially with their church, St. Margaret's Episcopal Church in Carrollton, Georgia; they participated in the choir and contributed writings to the church's newsletter, St. Margaret's Notebook, of which Joe was also the editor. Joe also joined the Carroll County Chamber of Commerce in November 1997. The Cummings were frequent visitors to Tate Mountain in Jasper, Georgia, where they would vacation with a large group of friends and family affectionately called "the Taters." These Tate vacations were often venues for Joe Cumming's own plays and skits, which he performed as full community theater productions as a member of the "Tater Patch Players" beginning in 1978.

Scope and Content Note

The collection contains the papers of Joseph B. ("Joe") Cumming, Jr., from 1889-2009. The papers include correspondence, notebooks, printed materials, subject files, and writings. Correspondence is primarily personal letters between Cumming and fellow journalists such as Bill Emerson, Ralph McGill, Paul Hemphill, and Marshall Frady; family members such as Emily ("Embo") Cumming, Walter Cumming, Doug Cumming, and Anne Cumming; and other associates, especially writers Mary Hood and Walter Griffin, and editors Michele Ross and Don McKinney. The notebooks contain Cumming's diary entries, personal notes, lesson plans, and notes for and drafts of his writings, including journalistic works, poems, and fiction.

Printed materials are about or by Cumming and his son, Doug Cumming, and Joe's wife, Emily Cumming. They include works published in magazines and newspapers West Georgian, Atlanta Magazine, Atlanta Journal-Constitution, American Way, Atlanta, Eclectic, Esquire, Georgia, Harper's, St. Margaret's Notebook, Times-Georgian, Diocese, The Washington Post, Atlanta Journal and Constitution Magazine, The Wall Street Journal, and Chronicle of Higher Education. Cumming's experience participating in the 1965 March on Washington as a journalist features heavily in his writings on civil rights and in others' writings about him. Subject files contain materials on education, travels and vacations, events, and research topics. Writings contain both published and unpublished works by Cumming and works by others which were collected or reviewed by Cumming. Topics of these writings include WWII; American culture from the 1930s through 1990s; the Civil Rights Movement; education; literature, journalism, writing, publishing, and authors; the visual and performing arts; cultural events in Georgia; and family, friends, and other associates.

Arrangement Note

Series 2
Notebooks, 1961-1998
Boxes 7-13

Scope and Content Note

The series consists of notebooks written by Joe Cumming from 1961-1998. Notebooks include speeches and creative works, especially fiction and poems; diary entries; observations and quotes relating to Newsweek and freelance articles; and lesson plans and notes on teaching. The notebooks document Cumming's time as the Newsweek Atlanta Bureau Chief (1961-1979), as a student at Emory University's Institute for the Liberal Arts (ILA) and magazine writing instructor at Emory University (1979-1981), and as a professor for the University of West Georgia's Mass Communications and Theater Department (1981-1991). Topics in these notebooks include Cumming's studies; family life; professional life; and current events, such as the Civil Rights Movement and its subsequent effects on American education and social life from 1961-1998. Of particular note are the early notebooks covering 1961-1969 for their diary entries on the Civil Rights Movement and Cumming's professional career with Newsweek.

Series 4
Subject files, 1944-2009
Boxes 13, 18-25, 40, OP2, and AV2

Scope and Content Note

The series consists of subject files compiled by Joe Cumming from 1944-2009. Subject files include research notes, printed material, and correspondence about topics of interest to or research by Cumming. The most prevalent topic is education, including Cumming's research on education theory; lecture notes and course proposals; and notes on Cumming's own approach to education, which he referred to as "New Learning." Courses taught by Cumming at the University of West Georgia include College Headstart; Getting the Picture: History, News, and You; Language of News; Magazine Writing; Newswriting I; Opinion Writing; and Public Relations. Joe Cumming also guest-lectured at Carrollton Junior High School for an Enrichment course and with his son, Doug Cumming, at the College of Charleston on Joe's "Preparation for College Learning" in 1995 and 1996. Also included are notes on the 1996 Real World 101 course at College of Charleston.

Other topics include personal travels and vacations, such as a family reunion and trips to Gettysburg, Pennsylvania and Kanuga Conference Center in North Carolina; events such as the 2009 Emory University Manuscript, Archives, and Rare Book Library (now Rose Library) 12th Night Revel, the 1982 Family Secret book launch event, 2004 Townsend Prize for Fiction Award Luncheon, and the 2009 "Northern Light" art exhibition by Cumming's son, Walter Cumming; and research on agricultural science, the arts, literature, Carroll County, economics, emerging writers, health, Homer, humor, Humanism, jazz music, law, Andrew Nelson Lytle, politics, religion, theater, and Y2K. Also included are three unidentified photographs. Cumming's 1947 Refoulé murder notes appear to be statements by a reporter and at least one associate of the victim; there are no corresponding printed materials or writings by Cumming on this topic.

Arrangement Note

Arranged in alphabetical order.

Restrictions on Access

Due to privacy concerns, some materials in the series have been redacted.

Use copies have not been made for audiovisual material in this collection. Researchers must contact Rose Library at least two weeks in advance for access to these items. Collection restrictions, copyright limitations, or technical complications may hinder Rose Library's ability to provide access to audiovisual material.

Series 5
Writings, 1889-2009 (bulk 1949-2009)
Boxes 26-39, 40, and AV1

Scope and Content Note

The series consists of writings by Joe Cumming and others from 1889-2009. Cumming's writings include both published and unpublished works and are classified as fiction, fragments, nonfiction, poetry, and sheet music. Fiction works include short stories, skits, and drafts of a novel titled The Handbird [variant title: Op-Ed]. One piece, a 1975 speech titled "Sizemore," is written and delivered by Cumming from a fictional character's perspective. Two pieces are written under the pseudonym Vincent Shaler: "Christmas Present" and "The Sigh." Nonfiction works include essays, broadcast scripts, speeches, tributes, drafts of a newsletter titled "Bells and Buzzers," and drafts of the book Bylines: Selected Articles, Columns and Poems 1963-1995. "Tales from Tamworth" includes born digital material. Poetry is typically unpublished and personal in nature but also includes "A Toast to 'The Boyfriend,'" a piece published in Carroll County Cultural Arts Alliance. Sheet music includes music and lyrics written for Cumming's community theater projects as well as personal songs written and performed for friends and family. Published works are described with the title and date of publication. These works include articles, columns, and letters to the editors printed in Esquire, Times-Georgian, Perspective, St. Margaret's Newsletter, System Magazine, Atlanta Journal-Constitution, Suwanee News, Atlanta Weekly, Athens Observer, Atlanta, Newsweek, West Georgian, and Harper's.

Cumming covered topics including WWII; American culture from the 1930s through 1990s; the Civil Rights Movement; education; literature, journalism, writing, publishing, and authors; the visual and performing arts; and cultural events in Georgia, often associated with Universities like Emory and Agnes Scott or cities like Carrollton and Augusta. He also wrote personal pieces about family, friends, and other associates. Occasionally, Cumming uses the same title for disparate works, such as the two "Liberal Arts" essays from 1982 and 1988.

Writings by others include typescripts that Cumming created from writings by W.B. Yeats, Edna St. Vincent Millay, Wallace Stevens, John Crowe Ransom, Evelyn Waugh, Thomas Wolfe, Christopher Morley, William Johnson Cory, E.A. Robinson, James Neely Grant, George Santayana, and Richard Wilbur. Also included are unpublished works given to Cumming as gifts or for his review by Doug Cumming, Bill F. Hensley, Ellen Wilson, Thom Slaughter, Paul Hemphill, Emily Cumming, Benjamin Griffith, Al Braselton, Sue Sigmon Williams, Allen Joyce, and Miriam Kiser.

Arrangement Note

Arranged in alphabetical order by type. Born digital materials currently available to researchers are taken from two 3.5" floppy disks. Disk images were created using a Kryoflux and FTK Imager. Master copies of these images were ingested into a Fedora instance at Emory University for long-term preservation. Individual files were extracted using FTK Imagers and scanned for viruses using McAfee anti-virus software. The thirteen extracted files consist of an OpenOffice file and Jpeg images. The OpenOffice file was migrated to PDF for access and use copies were made of the other files in their original format. Files are arranged in original order by disk and retain original titles.

Terms Governing Use and Reproduction

Researchers are not permitted to copy or download any of the digital files from the searchable database on the computer workstation.

Restrictions on Access

Use copies have not been made for audiovisual material in this collection. Researchers must contact Rose Library at least two weeks in advance for access to these items. Collection restrictions, copyright limitations, or technical complications may hinder Rose Library's ability to provide access to audiovisual material.

Use copies have not been made for fragile material in this collection. Researchers must contact Rose Library at least two weeks in advance for access to these items. Collection restrictions, copyright limitations, or physical complications may hinder Rose Library's ability to provide access to fragile material.

Use of the original digital media is restricted. Access to born digital materials is only available at the computer workstation in the Rose Library.
