Collection Description

Biographical Note
Peggy Powell Dobbins (1938-) is a sociologist, artist, women's rights activist, and author. She graduated from Wellesley College (Wellesley, Massachusetts) in 1960 and the University of Madrid (Madrid, Spain) in 1961. She later earned her Ph.D. from Tulane University (New Orleans, Louisiana) in 1974. Dobbins taught at New Orleans Free University (New Orleans, Louisiana) in 1966 and moved to New York City in 1967 where she co-founded New York Radical Women (NYRW), an early second-wave feminist radical feminist group that existed from 1967–1969. In 1970, she organized a childcare co-op and a sliding scale food co-op as well as Consciousness Raising groups where women answer a question using examples from their personal lives and draw conclusions about the political root of women's so-called "personal" problems. She was also involved in Women's International Terrorist Conspiracy from Hell (W.I.T.C.H.), a group formed from the NYRW. She returned to New Orleans in 1972 and completed her dissertation, Unionism, Professionalism, and Feminism among Registered Nurses. Dobbins began teaching Sociology at the University of Alabama in 1974. She was later fired for performing a skit based on her research on the "Right Wing Attack on the Women's Movement." She then joined the Communist party and worked as a volunteer until 1993. She wrote the book, From Kin to Class, Speculations on the Origins and Development of Family Class Society, and Female Subordination (1981).

There are also a small amount of photographs, negatives, and slides of Dobbins' family and friends.
