Collection Description

Biographical Note

Poet and educator Alan Dugan (1923-2003) was born on February 12, 1923 in Brooklyn, New York, to Elmer and Mae Dugan and attended Jamaica High School in Queens, New York. There, he worked on the student newspaper, ran for Clubs Committee, and was a member of the honor society, Arista. He began his undergraduate education at Queens College in New York in 1941, but was drafted into the army two years later and served during World War II in the United States Army Air Forces. Dugan attended Olivet College in Olivet, Michigan, on the GI Bill after the war and met artist Judith Shahn while there. Dugan and Shahn left Olivet during a student strike over the firing of a left-wing faculty member they supported and relocated to Mexico where Dugan returned to college and earned a Bachelor of Arts in English from Mexico City College in 1949. For the next ten years, Dugan lived in New York City and worked in sales and publishing, along with odd jobs such as model maker for a medical supply company, while attempting to establish a career as a poet. Dugan won his first award in 1946, from Poetry Magazine. Dugan was awarded the Rome Fellowship from the American Academy Arts and Letters and traveled to Rome in 1962. Dugan and Shahn married while living in Manhattan, and ran a greeting card company with another couple, the Komars, which went bankrupt in 1957. Upon establishing a creative writing career, Dugan taught at Sarah Lawrence College in Bronxville, New York, from 1967-1971. In 1971, Dugan and Shahn moved to Cape Cod, and Dugan began teaching creative writing courses at the Fine Arts Work Center in Provincetown where he was a mentor to younger poets. He also worked with the Massachusetts Poetry in the Schools program from 1971-1974, traveling to local elementary, middle, and high schools to teach poetry. Dugan and Shahn used Guggenheim and Rockefeller fellowships awarded to Dugan to travel and work in Paris, Rome, and South America.

Dugan published his poetry in a number of volumes, including Poems (1961), Poems 2 (1963), Poems 3 (1967), Poems 4 (1974), Poems 5 (1983), Poems 6 (1989), and Poems 7 (2001). Poems Seven: New and Complete Poetry, a compilation of all seven of these collections, was released in 2001. Dugan's poetry includes meditations on the mundane aspects of daily life and often employs slang and scatological terminology. Poems received the Pulitzer Prize and the National Book Award, and Poems Seven received another National Book Award. In 1982, the Poetry Society of America awarded Dugan the Shelley Memorial Award. Alan Dugan died of pneumonia in September 2003 in Hyannis, Massachusetts.

Scope and Content Note

The collection consists of the papers of Alan Dugan from 1861-2010. It includes correspondence, personal papers, professional papers, writings, printed material, photographs, and audiovisual material. Correspondence includes both personal and professional correspondence of Alan and Judith (Shahn) Dugan. Personal correspondents include Mae, Dugan's mother, while professional correspondents include American poets Frank Stanford and Yusef Komunyakaa along with other former students. Also included are letters between Dugan's publishers, Yale University Press and Antaeus: The Ecco Press, and materials documenting awards, recommendations, and application letters. Personal and professional papers include work on projects such as Massachusetts Poetry in the Schools and the Fine Arts Work Center in Provincetown as well as financial records and awards. Personal papers contain resumes, degrees, military records, and memorials.

Writings include work by Alan Dugan and others. Writings by Dugan consist of handwritten and typescript drafts of individual poems, along with manuscript drafts and page proofs of his published collections. Writings by others contain handwritten and typescript drafts of amateur and professional writers including Maya Angelou and Jeffrey Eugenides as well as Walter E. Doerfler's artistic work "From the Life, Times and Newsleeks of A. Port'eous Lighthhead,". Many of the poems by amateur writers include correspondence to Dugan asking him or thanking him for comment on their work. There is a large amount of material from the Castle Hill Poetry Workshop at the Fine Arts Work Center in Provincetown, Massachusetts, where Dugan taught classes in creative writing. The printed material consists of published material documenting Dugan's life and career, including promotional material, published writings, newspaper and magazine clippings, and newsletters and magazines. There are a large amount of clippings from the early 1960s documenting Dugan's reception of the Pulitzer Prize and the National Book Award.

Photographs include those collected by Alan and Judith Dugan from 1860s-2003, and primarily contain publicity photographs of Alan Dugan along with other snapshots of Alan and Judith as well as of former classmates, family, and friends. Unidentified pictures include snapshots of possible family members in Florida in the 1960s; an unidentified wedding from the 1940s; and two tintypes, circa 1860. There are two scrapbooks in the series: one created by Mae Dugan about Alan, and the other entitled "Mexican Border" with photographs of soldiers from 1916. Audiovisual materials consists of recordings of Alan Dugan including five open reel tapes and three audio cassettes.

Arrangement Note

Organized into 6 series: (1) Writings, (2) Correspondence, (3) Professional and personal papers, (4) Printed materials, (5) Photographs, and (6) Audiovisual materials.

Series 1
Writings, circa 1940s-2003
Boxes 1-25, OP1-OP4, BV1

Scope and Content Note

The series consists of writings by Alan Dugan and others. Writings by Dugan primarily consist of handwritten and typescript poem drafts as well as drafts and page proofs of his published collections. These poems deal with a wide range of subjects including observations of daily life, commentary on political events, observations of nature, and references to classical and biblical themes. There are also a number of notebooks containing draft writings. Writings by others include poetry and prose manuscripts by amateur and professional writers including Maya Angelou and Jeffrey Eugenides. There are a large number of draft writings by Dugan's students at the Castle Hill Poetry Workshop, a workshop that Dugan taught in Truro, Massachusetts, and many of the writings from amateur authors contain correspondence asking Dugan for comment or thanking him for reading their work.

Arrangement Note

Organized into 2 subseries: (1.1) Writings by Dugan, (1.2) Writings by others.

Subseries 1.1
Writings by Dugan, circa 1940s-2001
Boxes 1-13, OP1-OP4, BV1

Scope and Content Note

The subseries consists of writings by Alan Dugan and primarily contains handwritten and typescript poem drafts, as well as drafts and page proofs of his published collections, including Poems (1961), Poems 2 (1963), Poems 3 (1967), Poems 4 (1974), Poems 5 (1983), Poems 6 (1989), and Poems 7 (2001). Poems Seven: New and Complete Poetry, a compilation of all seven of these individual collections, was released in 2001. Dugan's poems deal with a wide range of subjects, including observations of daily life, commentary on political events, observations of nature and animals, Latin American travel, the nature and use of art, classical and biblical themes, abstract themes, and other topics. War is a major subject of Dugan's poetry; a number of poems from the 1940s discuss Dugan's service in World War II, and there are a number of other poems commenting on the Vietnam War. There are also a large number of notebooks in this subseries containing draft writings and doodles.

Many of Dugan's handwritten poems have titles that may differ from published versions. Dugan titled many of his poems as "Note," "Poem," "Sonnet," and "Untitled Poem," and these works have been listed with their respective first lines for clarity. There are also several folders of unidentified writings, which have missing or illegible titles.

Subseries 1.2
Writings by others, circa 1961-2003
Boxes 14-25, OP1

Scope and Content Note

The subseries consists of writings by others and includes poetry and prose manuscripts by amateur and professional writers. Notable writers represented in the subseries include Maya Angelou and Jeffrey Eugenides. There is a large amount of material from Walter E. Doerfler's artistic work "From the Life, Times and Newsleeks of A. Port'eous Lighthouse," which was constructed from newspaper clippings. There are also a large number of draft writings from the Castle Hill Poetry Workshop, a workshop that Dugan taught in Truro, Massachusetts. Many of the writings from amateur writers contain correspondence asking Dugan for comment or thanking him for reading their work. Where amateur writers sent multiple poems to Dugan for review, writings have been listed alphabetically by the first poem in the group.

Arrangement Note

Arranged in alphabetical order by author.

Series 2
Correspondence, 1945-2010
Boxes 26-39, OP1

Scope and Content Note

The series consists of the personal and professional correspondence of Alan and Judith Dugan. Primary personal correspondents include Dugan's mother, Mrs. E.A (Mae) Dugan and his wife, Judith Shahn. Letters from 1952-1961 are primarily between Alan Dugan and his wife Judith Shahn while they were living apart-Alan in Massachusetts and Judith in New York.

Letters from 1968-1975 primarily regard his work and include requests for publication of his poems, for poetry readings, or to be a visiting lecturer. Also included are letters from American poets Frank Stanford and Yusef Komunyakaa from 1971-1976. These letters contain comments on unpublished poems and also document their personal lives. Other professional correspondence records the relationship between Dugan and his publishers, Yale University press, from 1961-1969 including permission letters to print and publish as well as letters from Antaeus: The Ecco Press from 1970-1987. Also included are copies of requests for recommendations from his past students to graduate school or employers as well as thank you notes and requests to review and edit their writings.

There are a number of letters of awards as well as congratulatory letters regarding awards, and application letters for programs including the National Book Award for his book Poems in 1962, the Pulitzer Prize in Poetry for Poems, awarded by Columbia University in 1962, The Shelley Award in 1982 and the American Academy and Institute of Arts and Letters Award in 1985.

Series 3
Professional and personal papers, 1919-2003
Boxes 40-47, 55, OP1

Scope and Content Note

The series consists of professional and personal papers including work on projects such as Massachusetts Poetry in the Schools and the Fine Arts Work Center in Provincetown as well as financial records, awards and resumes, degrees, military records, and memorials. Dugan's records regarding Massachusetts Poetry in the Schools, 1971-1974, consists primarily of student work ranging from elementary through high school, but also includes reports both by Dugan and by members of the administration of the program as well as personal notes on the program. Dugan's work with the Fine Arts Work Center in Provincetown documents his work as a board member of the organization, including administrative records on the building, board of trustee minutes, and notes on changes to the constitution and by-laws. Also included are applications and notes documenting his work in choosing fellowship applicants for the writing program.

Along with his work in these programs, the series contains financial records from 1949-2002. The financial records include handwritten notes sent to the Dugans' accountant as well as contracts for Alan's readings and publishing work, Judith's art exhibit in Paris in 1963, federal and local tax returns, and records for Marcards, the Dugan's failed greeting card business. Also included in financial records are documents regarding Alan's grant for the American Academy of Arts and Letters in Rome in 1962 as well as remittances, royalty payments, honorariums, vouchers, and notifications of payment from Yale University Press, Connecticut College for Women, New York University, University of Colorado, Postal Transportation Services, Port of New York Authority among others. Included with financial records are contracts for speaking engagements as well as for teaching positions at organizations including University of Texas at Austin, University of Arkansas, and Castle Hill Center for the Arts, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, Dia Center and Provincetown Art Press.

The series also includes personal papers such as degrees and educational awards that Dugan earned in high school, resumes and grant applications, memorials, military records and personal papers both for Alan and Judith as well as Alan's parents, Elmer and Mae Dugan. These personal papers include identification cards, passports, wills, cemetery plot information, and town registrations. There are also awards from Jamaica High School, his 2001 National Book Award certificate, and his Massachusetts Book Award (2002) and biographical documents such as interviews and biographies that were commissioned by Who's Who in America, Current Biography, and American Poetry Review as well as an interview transcript with J. C. Ellefson and Belle Waring.

Series 5
Photographs, circa 1860s-2004
Boxes 53-54, OP1

Scope and Content Note

This series consists of photographs collected by Alan and Judith Dugan from 1860s-2003. The majority of the series is of publicity photographs of Alan Dugan along with snapshots Alan and Judith. Also included are photographs of former classmates, family, and friends. There is a photograph of Alan in his Air Force training class from 1943 as well as photographs of paintings of Frank Stanford by his wife, Ginny Stanford. Unidentified pictures include snapshots of possible family members in Florida in the 1960s; an unidentified wedding couple from the 1940s; and two tintypes, circa 1860.

There are two scrapbooks in the series. One is created by Mae Dugan about Alan, and is written from his perspective with the end pages filled in by a young Alan. The other is entitled "Mexican Border" and includes photographs of soldiers from 1916.
