Collection Description

Biographical Note

Benjamin Francis "Whitey" Ford, musician and actor, was born May 12, 1901, in Desoto, Missouri, and died June 20, 1986, in Nashville, Tennessee. In the 1920s he toured the United States with his own Dixie Land jazz band, joined Gene Autry's radio shows "Show Boat" and "Barn Dance," and performed at station KWK in St. Louis where he was nicknamed "Duke of Paducah." Ford joined NBC to do the "Plantation Party" radio shows (1938-1942) and made his first appearances with the "Grand Ole Opry" radio show (1942), which he continued for 16 years. He appeared in two movies, "Country Fair" (1941) and "Country Music on Broadway" (1963). Through the 1940s and 1950s he appeared (as entertainer, disc jockey, host, etc.) on the radio shows "Jax All-Star Jubilee," "Duke of Paducah Show," and the "Purina Show." In the 1980s, Ford was nominated for the Country Music Hall of Fame.

Scope and Content Note

The collection consists of the papers of Benjamin F. Ford (Duke of Puducah) from 1938-1953. The papers include radio scripts, audio cassettes, biographical information, photographs, a screenplay, and printed material.

The majority of the collection is comprised of radio scripts of various programs that Ford was involved in including Plantation Party (NBC Radio, with Ford as emcee), the Grand Ole Opry (NBC radio, sponsored by R.J. Reynolds Tobacco), the Jax All-Star Jubilee (sponsored by Jax Berr of New Orleans, recorded at Brown Radio Productions, Nashville, Tenn.), the Duke of Paducah Show (sponsored by warm Morning Heaters, featuring dialog between Duke and the announcer), and the Purina Show (sponsored by Purina pet foods, recorded in Springfield, Mo., Ford is disc jockey).

The Screenplay is from the movie "Country Fair" and scripts are from the five radio shows Ford appeared on from 1938 into the 1950s. The stories files include promotional material and issues of "The Comedian" (1950-1959), a professional gag service by Billy Gleason under the names "The Laff Roundup" and "Fun-Master Monthly." The Ford Library audiocassettes were made by John W. Rumble, an oral historian from the Country Music Foundation in 1984, and record the arrangement of Ford's private library of wit and humor books.

Arrangement Note

Arranged by record type.
