Collection Description

Biographical Note
The Episcopal Society for Cultural and Racial Unity (ESCRU), a voluntary society, was founded in 1960 with headquarters in Atlanta. The stated purpose of this society was to establish total participation in the Church for all persons regardless of race, class, or national origin.

Scope and Content Note
The collection consist of records of the Episcopal Society for Cultural and Racial Unity from 1961-1966. The records include statements of purpose, newsletters, official correspondence, materials relating to the Lovett School segregation controversy, and collected materials.

Lovett School segregation controversy materials include official correspondence, newsletters, history of Lovett School's relationship with the Episcopal Church (1963, 1966), and a transcription of remarks by Dr. Martin Luther King at the Cathedral of St. Philip, June 4, 1966 (folder 5).

Collected material includes "In Memorium [sic]: Jonathan Myrick Daniels", a Episcopal Theological School student, who was murdered at Hayneville, Alabama, August 20, 1965 (folder 6); program from the Second Annual Meeting of the society held in Chicago, June 21-24, 1962 (folder 7); reprints from religious and news publications, 1961, 1964 (folder 8); and a description of materials and order form available from ESCRU (folder 9).

Arrangement Note
Arranged by record type.
