from Atlanta Medical College (1895), and practiced in Rex, Georgia (1895-January 1901; 1916-1926), and in Atlanta, Georgia (1901-August 1916). He and his brother, James, opened a blacksmith and wagon repair business (1884), and bought the contract for the Joshua Berry Grain Cradle, which they manufactured and sold (1885-1921). Their business also made furniture under the name Estes-Walcott Company (1923) and the Rex Chair Company (1930).

Scope and Content Note

The collection consists of four account books, a contract, three deeds, and a diploma. The account books (1899-1915) relate to Estes's medical practice; the contract (1885) is for the Joshua Berry Grain Cradle; the deeds (1875; 1887) are for land lots in Clayton County; and the diploma (1895) is from Atlanta Medical College.

Arrangement Note

Unprocessed collection.
