Collection DescriptionAdministrative History

The Center for Creativity and Arts is an umbrella organization for arts initiatives on the Emory University campus with a mission to incorporate arts into Emory campus life. It provides campus-wide support for arts at Emory through grants, residency programs, interdisciplinary collaborations, and public events such as symposia.

Scope and Content Note

The records of the Center for Creativity and Arts contain mainly promotional material collected by the Center for Creativity and Arts for arts-related programs and events at Emory University including music, dance, art, theater, and creative writing. The collection represents events and programs hosted by such campus institutions as the Art History Department, The Creative Writing Department, the Music Department, the Dance Program, the Film Studies Department, and the Michael C. Carlos Museum, among others. The collection also contains the captured and preserved website of the Center for Creativity and Arts (<http://creativity.emory.edu/>) available to browse via the Web Archiving Service of the California Digital Library.

Arrangement Note

Arranged by campus department, event, or type of arts event following the original file-level organization of the material.
