Collection Description*Administrative History

Formed in 1986, the student group, CHOICES, the Undergraduate Women's Forum, was the first organization devoted to the interest and promotion of women's issues on the Emory campus. Their goals were to promote local women and their achievements, share information, welcome women to the community, and improve the status of women at Emory. In 1990 the group petitioned University administration to establish a women's center on campus, and in 1992 The Center for Women at Emory opened. CHOICES was involved with local and campus efforts, including Take Back the Night.
