Collection Description

Administrative History

Oxford, Georgia was incorporated in Newton County in 1939. Its name comes from Oxford University in England, and it was home to Emory College from the school's founding in 1836 as a manual labor school. When Emory College moved its main operations to Druid Hills, Georgia, the University maintained the Oxford campus in a number of educational forms. Oxford was incorporated as a city in 1914.

Scope and Content Note

Records include minutes of the Oxford City Council and a copy of the original town map.
