Collection DescriptionBiographical Note

John Wilson Foster, professor and critic of Northern Irish literature, was born in Belfast in 1944. Foster received his Ph.D. from the University of Oregon, and in 1974 joined the faculty at the University of British Columbia. His publications include Forces and Themes in Ulster Fiction (1974), Fictions of the Irish Literary Revival: A Changeling Art (1987), Colonial Consequences: Essays in Irish Literature and Culture (1991), The Achievement of Seamus Heaney (1995), Nature in Ireland: A Scientific and Cultural History (co-edited, 1997), Titanic: The Titanic Reader (edited, 1999, 2000), The Cambridge Companion to the Irish Novel (edited 2006), Irish Novels, 1890-1940: New Bearings in Culture and Fiction (2008). He also co-edited The Poet's Place: Ulster Literature and Society (1981).

Scope and Content Note

The collection consists of the papers of John Wilson Foster from 1973-2003. The papers include writings, correspondence, photographs, printed material, and writings by others. Writings by Foster include drafts of his critical work in addition to some original poetry. Also included are correspondence from and writings by many Irish writers, such as Seamus Heaney, Benedict Kiely, Philip Hobsbaum, Ciaran Carson, Gerald Dawe, Michael Longley, James Simmons, and others. The collection also includes correspondence and printed material relating to several conferences and summer programs, in addition to the publication of the Field Day Anthology of Irish Literature (Foster served as a contributing editor for this publication). Additions consist of additional writings by Foster and subject files he compiled while researching his numerous books. Subject files concern the literature, culture, and politics of Ireland and Northern Ireland; the natural history of Northern Ireland; the Passenger Pigeon; and the Titanic. Additions also include some audiovisual material.

Arrangement Note

Arranged by record type.
