Collection Description

Biographical Note

Martha Jean Wren Gaines, human rights and civil liberties activist, was born May 20, 1939 in Thomson, Georgia, to Paul M. Wren, a carpenter, and Zada McTier Wren. She graduated in 1961 from the University of Georgia in Athens with a liberal arts degree in journalism.

In March 1961, Martha Gaines began work with the Smyrna Herald as the advertising manager. Her subsequent professional career included positions as Assistant to the Director of Public Information for the Georgia Department of Education (June 1962-October 1964), Coordinator of Information for the Metropolitan School Development Council of the Atlanta Public Schools (November 1964-November 1967), Associate Secretariat for Systems Design of the Georgia Manpower Planning Council (February 1969-May 1973), and Compliance Officer for the Metropolitan Atlanta Rapid Transit Authority (October 1977-November 1987).

From May 1973 to October 1977, Martha Gaines was also involved in free-lance work as a writer, lecturer, and equal opportunity consultant for women and minority groups. She and Darlene Roth-White formed a consulting firm, Gaines and Roth-White, dedicated to feminist interests in developing affirmative action plans, compliance assistance, and management and leadership training.

Martha Gaines worked with and held leadership positions in many local, regional, and national organizations dedicated to the causes of human rights and civil liberties. She was especially active in the National Organization for Women (NOW), holding various offices including membership on the Board of Directors at the national level (1971-1973), Chair of the National Conference Resolutions Committee (1973), State Coordinator (1972-1974), Southern Regional Director (1976-1977), and one of the founders and president of the Atlanta Chapter (1969-1970).

As a member of the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU), both nationally and in Georgia, Martha Gaines served as a member of the Board of Directors (1975-1985?), was the first woman to serve two terms as State President, was President of the ACLU of Georgia Foundation (1985-?), and was also a member of the national ACLU Board of Directors (1980-?). In 1983 the ACLU of Georgia presented Martha Gaines with the Bill of Rights Award.

An ardent supporter of the Equal Rights Amendment (ERA), Martha Gaines was involved locally and nationally. She was a member of the ERA Ratification Council (1973-1975), a staff member for Georgians for the ERA (1976), and a member of ERA Georgia (1978-?). Martha Gaines was an active supporter and consultant to the campaigns of several elected officials. She was also a member of the State Democratic Executive Committee (1974-1975).
In 1974, Martha Gaines was the Democratic candidate for the State Senate from District 37 in Fulton County. Although she lost this bid, she received circa forty-five percent of the vote.

Martha Wren was married in 1966 to Joe Marion Gaines. Their daughter, Martha Kelly Gaines, was born October 28, 1966, and has also been involved in human rights causes and civil liberties issues. The Gaines's marriage ended in divorce. On November 29, 1987 Martha Wren Gaines died of cancer. Although Atlanta had been her home from college graduation until the time of her death, she was buried in Savannah Memorial Gardens in her hometown of Thomson, Georgia.

Scope and Content Note
The Martha Wren Gaines papers consist of a wide variety of material types including correspondence, reports, printed material, clippings, audio-visual materials, and memorabilia. This collection dates from 1962-1987, with the bulk of the papers dating from ca. 1969-1987. This collection is strong in its representation of the women's movement. The National Organization for Women materials, the Equal Rights Amendment Campaign files, and the printed material in the Social Issues Subject Files devoted to the women's movement give an in-depth look at certain activities of the 1970s and 1980s in regard to ending sex discrimination in the United States.

While organization-related records make up most of this collection, there are relatively few materials relating to the personal life of Martha Gaines. Materials located in the personal and posthumous materials series are sketchy in their representation of her personal life, although more of such information can be gleaned from the employment applications and vitae found in the professional papers series.

Arrangement Note
Organized into six series: (1) Professional papers; (2) Organizational activities files; (3) Equal Rights Amendment campaign files; (4) Professional and organizational scrapbook material, 1965-1986; (5) Social issues subject files, 1967-1986; and (6) Personal and posthumous material, 1960-1987.

Series 2
Organizational activities files, 1966-1987

Scope and Content Note
Organizational Activities Files constitutes the bulk of the Martha Wren Gaines papers. The materials in this series are arranged alphabetically by organization name. The over-sized items and recordings are housed separately, but linked intellectually in the container list. This series documents Martha Gaines's involvement in the areas of human rights and civil liberties organizationally. The material in this series consists of correspondence and memoranda, reports, printed material of many different types, handbills, brochures, broadsides, memorabilia, audiocassette and videocassette recordings. Related material such as correspondence, certificates of recognition, printed material, and clippings can be found in Series 4, Professional and Organizational Scrapbook Material.

The two largest groups in this collection are Martha Gaines's files pertaining to her involvement with the American Civil Liberties Union (Box 6: folders 17-30, Boxes 7-8, OP 4-8) and the National Organization for Women (Boxes 15-21, OP 4, 11-12, OH 3-4). The American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) group have been broken down into three main subgroups, ACLU, ACLU of Georgia, and ACLU Foundation of Georgia. Included in the first two subgroups are administrative records, publications, correspondence, and collected material relating to particular issues being addressed by the ACLU. The ACLU Foundation of Georgia is the smallest of the three and contains reports.

The National Organization for Women files (NOW) documents the women's rights movement locally (Atlanta and other chapters), regionally (Georgia and other states) and nationally. The Southern Regional Conference annual meeting of 1976 is well-documented, including the controversy regarding the election of Martha Gaines as Director. Included in the NOW materials are administrative records, publications, correspondence, and collected material.

Series 3
Equal Rights Amendment campaign files, 1968-1983
Boxes 24-26, OP 15

Scope and Content Note
Martha Gaines was an ardent supporter of the Equal Rights Amendment and worked for its ratification, both on the national and state level. The Equal Rights Amendment campaign files, Series 3, reflect both her involvement and her interest in this controversial subject. Both sides of the issue are represented, although the pro-ERA side is the better represented of the two. Correspondence, printed material, clippings, pamphlets, hand-bills, and broadsides are the major material types found in this series, which are then divided according to their place in the national or state campaigns. Correspondents include Zell Miller, Eliza Paschall, Cathey Steinberg, Herman Talmadge and other national and state political and human rights activist figures voicing their opinions on ERA. Related material can be found in Series 4, Professional and Organizational Scrapbook Material.

Series 4
Professional and organizational scrapbook material, 1965-1986
Box 27, OBV 1

Scope and Content Note
Series 4, Professional and organization scrapbook material, comprises material from Martha Gaines's four scrapbooks. Correspondence, printed material, certificates of recognition, and clippings document the wide variety of her professional and organizational activities such as her campaign for State Senate, her many speaking engagements, membership in NOW and ACLU, and as an advocate for the passage of ERA. Related and more detailed information may be found in Series One through Three.

Three of the scrapbooks came to Special Collections in the form of three-ring binders. In order to better preserve the items in these scrapbook, they were taken apart and the items were then placed in folders maintaining the original chronological order. The fourth scrapbook is a bound volume. The items in this volume have been photocopied and placed in a folder which is housed in the same box as the other scrapbook material for ease of use and reproduction. Access will normally be to these reproductions only.
