Collection DescriptionBiographical Note

Delilah Jackson was born and raised in Harlem, New York. She graduated from Wadleigh High School and attended Rapid Computing Business School. The entertainment world of Harlem figured prominently in Jackson's childhood, as her parents were enthusiastic fans of the musicians and performers of the thriving 1930s and 1940s Harlem. Her father was particularly fond of Duke Ellington and his music, and his collection of Ellington ephemera inspired Jackson to become a collector herself. She collected photographs, programs, sheet music, newspaper and magazine clippings, and other ephemera related to Black performers from the Harlem Renaissance to present day.

Besides her interest in the arts and the history of Black entertainers, she forged many friendships with dancers and musicians and dedicated herself to preserving the memories of their accomplishments. She trained with Mary Bruce, the famous Harlem dance teacher, as well as with the Henry Street Settlement's New Federal Theatre. Her true passion, however, lay with the Black Patti Foundation, which she started in 1975. Named for Mme. Sisseretta Jones, famed opera singer of the 19th century, the Black Patti Foundation was created not only to preserve the history of Black dance, music, and theater, but also to produce events that re-introduce and showcase the talents of Harlem's "old timers."

Jackson has served as consultant on numerous documentaries and films, including The Cotton Club. She has lectured at universities, museums, and civic organizations in New York and written for The Amsterdam News. Jackson has one daughter, Jill Theodochia Jackson.

Scope and Content Note

The collection contains materials related to the history of African American dance, theater, and music, particularly from the Harlem vaudeville era. The papers include personal correspondence, scrapbooks, subject files on individual performers, photographs, scripts, programs, oral history interviews, short films, and the records of Delilah Jackson's organization, the Black Patti Foundation. There are some early photographs from the turn of the twentieth century, but the bulk of the photographs date from the 1920s through the 1940s. Of particular note are the rare photographs of little known vaudeville performers, dancers, and singing groups. The oral history interviews are also a very notable part of the collection. There are over 300 recorded interviews with Cotton Club dancers, singers, musicians, photographers, and other performers who recall the culture of Harlem and their own experiences as Black performers over the years.

Arrangement Note

Organized into eight series: (1) Correspondence, (2) Photographs, (3) Subject files, (4) Black Patti Foundation, (5) Printed material, (6) Scripts, (7) Scrapbook pages, and (8) Audiovisual materials.

Series 3
Subject files, circa 1920-2012
Boxes 32 - 45, 56-57 and OP4

Scope and Content Note

The subject files include collected newspapers and magazine articles, clippings, obituaries, and some printed and manuscript material related to individuals, organizations, events, and theatrical performances. In many cases, material relates to more than one person or event, so any number of related subject files should be consulted. Also, many of the subject files have related files in Series 5 (printed material).

Arrangement Note

Arranged in alphabetical order.

Series 4
Black Patti Foundation, 1982-2006
Box 46, 57-58, 68-72 and OP4

Scope and Content Note

This series includes the correspondence and records of the Black Patti Foundation. Most of the material dates from the early 1980s to present day, though the organization was founded in 1975. The correspondence relates directly to the production of Black Patti events and performances, as well as requests for funding and other people's responses to Black Patti's work. The series also contains Delilah Jackson's personal notes related to programming, news articles about Black Patti, and legal and financial paperwork. There are a large number of flyers from many years of Black Patti events, showcases, lectures, and film series.

Series 5Printed material, 1882-2010*Boxes 47 - 53, 62-67, 72-77 and OP1-2, OP4-5, OP9*Scope and Content Note

The printed material series is arranged alphabetically, and includes programs, periodicals, posters, postcards, and general printed material from 1882 to 2010. There are numerous programs from early theatrical performances, as well as numerous notable souvenir journals, programs, and booklets from various events and performances in Harlem and beyond. The series also contains postcards (arranged by publisher) depicting Harlem and African Americans, posters and advertisements of musical events, a number of issues of periodicals related to African American arts and artists, and general ephemeral material including church fans. Sheet music in the series includes both printed music and hand-written stand scores. Printed music is arranged by composer or arranger while stand scores are arranged by title. Some printed material may also be found in Series 3 (subject files) and Series 1 (photographs).

Series 6
Scripts, 1933-1991
Box 54, 77

Scope and Content Note

The series contains scripts from the 1930s and 1940s collected by Maurice Ellis, an African American performer and actor. The majority of the scripts are unmarked and some are incomplete. There is an additional script from 1991 that is not connected to Ellis.

Arrangement Note

Arranged in alphabetical order.

Series 7
Scrapbook pages
Box 77 and OP2-3, 5

Scope and Content Note

The series contains loose scrapbook pages and artwork collected by Delilah Jackson. The original compilers of the scrapbook pages are unknown. The pages contain newspaper clippings, photographs, and a few pieces of correspondence. Most are in very poor condition and extremely fragile. They are arranged by subject. The artwork in the series consists of watercolor drawings and sketches. Some of the materials are photographic copies made of original works.

Series 8
Audiovisual materials 1930s-1980s
Boxes AV 1-20 and LP 1

Scope and Content Note

This series of audiovisual materials includes oral history interviews, as well as short films ("Soundies") from the 1930s and 1940s. The interviews are conducted by Delilah Jackson and include a wide range of interviewees, from former Cotton Club dancers to Billie Holiday's first husband. Many of the interviews were conducted over the phone, and some are as short as a few minutes. The interviews are not dated, though most of the interviewees have been identified. Because of significant periods of silence and gaps in the interviews, they could not be placed in any order. The content of the interviews include anecdotes about the entertainers' experiences in Harlem and their reflections on the history of Black entertainment, racism, and life in the 1930s-1950s. There are several boxes of unidentified VHS and cassette tapes recorded by Delilah Jackson. Some are labeled, though the labels are difficult to read and interpret. These tapes may include commercial video or audio clips, though contents have not been verified. Other tapes are completely unlabeled and contents have not been identified.

Arrangement Note

Arranged by type, then in alphabetical order.

Terms Governing Use and Reproduction

Commercial films located in the audiovisual series may not be reproduced.

Restrictions on Access

Special restrictions apply: Use copies have not been made for all audiovisual material in this collection. Researchers must contact the Rose Library at least two weeks in advance for access to these items. Collection restrictions, copyright limitations, or technical complications may hinder the Rose Library's ability to provide access to audiovisual material.
