After resuming his law practice he was twice elected to the state legislature and became a member of the secession convention in 1860. Entering the war as a Colonel of the 2nd South Carolina Volunteers, he was present at the firing of Sumter and First Manassas. His promotion to brigadier general came in 1862 and for major general in 1864. He commanded a division of the 1st Corps., Army of Northern Virginia. In 1865 he was captured and sent to Fort Warren. After the war he returned to South Carolina and was elected a state senator. He was elected judge in 1877 and held that position until failing health forced his resignation in 1893. He became postmaster of Camden until his death.

Scope and Content Note

The collection consists primarily of seventeen miscellaneous items relative to Joseph Brevard Kershaw mainly from 1861. These include a list of defaulters of the 2nd South Carolina Volunteers; a bill from the exchange Hotel, Richmond, Virginia for the breakfasts of 100 Palmetto Guards; a pass signed by W. Porcher Miles, A.D.C. to General Beauregard; supply lists; an unidentified sketched campaign map; and various orders and transactions of regimental business sent to Col. J.B. Kershaw from the headquarters of the Army of the Potomac. There are also two non-Civil War letters to Kershaw. The first, dated October 20, 1852, is from Maxcy Gregg asking for support for Mr. De Treville in an upcoming election: a clipped autograph of Maxcy Gregg is included. The other letter, dated, April 24, 1894, is from W.B. Bachelder of the Gettysburg Battlefield Commission thanking Kershaw for the information he gave them about the battle.
