Collection Description

Biographical Note
Frank F. Lamons, dentist and educator, was born September 25, 1900, in Greenville, Tennessee, and died December 23, 1966, in Atlanta, Georgia. He graduated from the Atlanta-Southern Dental College (1924; subsequently Emory University School of Dentistry, 1944), studied orthodontics at the University of Pennsylvania (1925-1926), and was then associated with Dr. Thomas P. Hinman in Atlanta until 1931. He was a professor of orthodontics (1929-1949) and department chairman at the Emory University School of Dentistry (1949-1965). Lamons wrote articles related to his work, was president of the American Society of Dentistry for Children (1940-1941), the United States section of the International College of Dentists, the Northern District Dental Association (1957), and the Georgia Dental Association (1966).

Scope and Content Note
The collection consists of the papers of Frank F. Lamons from 1930-1966. The papers include correspondence, clippings, photographs, writings, and memorabilia relating to Lamons' career. Materials include information on the Crozat Removable Appliance, schools Lamons attended, and professional associations to which he belonged. Photographs depict members of dental associations and the Psi Omega Dental Fraternity, as well as events they conducted.

Arrangement Note
Arranged in alphabetical order.
