Collection Description

Biographical Note
Whitney J. LeBlanc (1931-), African American director, writer, producer, set designer, and stained glass artist. LeBlanc was born in Opelousas, Louisiana and graduated from Southern University. He received a Master of Arts degree in Theater Production from the University of Iowa. Throughout his career, LeBlanc has taught theater and theater design at Antioch College, Howard University, Lincoln University, and the University of Texas, among others. In addition to theater, LeBlanc has also been involved in television, directing the Our Street series for the Maryland Center for Public Broadcasting and serving as associate producer for Good Times. In 2002, LeBlanc published his first novel, Blues in the Wind. The sequel, Shadow of the Blues, was published in 2007.

Scope and Content Note
The collected consists of the papers of Whitney LeBlanc from 1956-2009, including correspondence, printed material, writings, and audiovisual material. Also included are drafts and slides documenting LeBlanc's set designs. Writings include LeBlanc's theses, plays, screenplays, television and film proposals, and speeches. Printed material includes programs and reviews from his various productions. Audiovisual material includes recordings of the programs that LeBlanc directed, such as Our Street and Good Times. Finally, the collection includes templates used for his stained glass work.

Arrangement Note
Unprocessed collection.
