Biographical Note
Beverly (Benson) Long (1920-2015) was the president of Help Our Public Education, Inc. (H.O.P.E.), a non-profit pro-public education organization formed in Atlanta, Georgia, in December 1958 in response to the United States Supreme Court's Brown vs. the Board of Education of Topeka decision and court orders to desegregate Atlanta city schools. She earned a Bachelor of Science from the University of Georgia (Athens, Georgia) in 1941, a Master of Science in Public Health from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill in 1942, and a Master of Science in Psychology from the University of Georgia in 1959. Long was presented with an honorary doctorate from Emory University (Atlanta, Georgia) in 2007 with special recognition for her advocacy for mental health. She married Maurice Wayne Long in 1963 and had two children with him, along with two children from a previous marriage during which her name was Beverly Downing.

After the Supreme Court decision, many school systems in Georgia were considering closing as opposed to desegregating. The objective of H.O.P.E. was to prevent the closing of public schools under any circumstances. Members of the organization conducted rallies, gave speeches, led group discussions, and prepared printed materials aimed at informing the public of the danger of closing the public schools. Although established in Atlanta, it became a statewide organization with chapters in Augusta, Athens, Columbus, Gainesville, Jonesboro, Macon, Marietta, Rome, and Savannah, Georgia. The pressure created by H.O.P.E., allied organizations, and individuals caused Georgia Governor S. Ernest Vandiver to create a commission to study the issue of Georgia public schools and desegregation. The General Assembly Committee on Schools (the Sibley Commission) was headed by John Sibley (1888-1986). The “Sibley Report” recommended the elimination of laws requiring the closure of public schools, if integrated. The Sibley recommendations, along with ever increasing pressure from citizens, led to school integration in Atlanta schools in the fall of 1961. H.O.P.E. was disbanded shortly thereafter.

Scope and Content Note
The materials consist of correspondence, clippings, reports, newsletters and printed material from 1954-2001 [BULK 1954-1964], primarily relating to activist Beverly Long's work with Help Our Public Education, Inc. (H.O.P.E.), an organization focused on keeping public schools open in Georgia during integration. There is a small amount of material relating to Long's personal life, including correspondence and notes.

Arrangement Note
Arranged alphabetically by folder title. Titles in quotations reflect original folder titles written by creator.
