Collection DescriptionBiographical Note

Lucas Myers is a British author and long-time friend of Ted Hughes and the Hughes family. Myers and Hughes met while both students at Cambridge University. He has written several books, including Crow Steered/Berg Appeared (2001), Dolma Ling (2002), and An Essential Self: Ted Hughes and Sylvia Plath: A Memoir (2010).

Scope and Content Note

The collection consists of correspondence between Lucas Myers and members of the Ted Hughes family. Letters are primarily from Olwyn Hughes, with additional letters from Carol Hughes, Ted Hughes, András Nagy, and Anne Stevenson. Letters from Olwyn Hughes document her long friendship and professional relationship with Myers. She writes to him about her travels, reading habits, and work. She also updates Myers on family matters, including Ted Hughes' relationships with Sylvia Plath, Assia Wevill, and Carol Hughes. Occasionally, she discusses the poetry of Hughes and Plath. In his letters to Myers, Ted Hughes speaks of his writing and publishing projects; his children and other family members; Sylvia Plath, her death, and the publication of her journals; and Janet Malcolm, her work, and her libel suit against Jeffrey Masson; among other topics. Letters from Carol Hughes reflect on the aftermath of Ted Hughes' death and copyright in relation to his papers. There are also several photographs in the collection. One photograph is of Sylvia Plath holding Frieda Hughes as an infant. The other photographs are of Ted Hughes and Lucas Myers with others in the 1970s and 1980s.
