Collection Description

Biographical Note
Neighbor's Network (Atlanta, Ga.) was founded in 1987 with the mission to counter "hate-crime and hate-group activity through research, education, victims assistance and community action." The organization was staffed by a small group of volunteers and community organizers dedicated to exposing and promoting public awareness of hate group activity in Georgia. Volunteers regularly distributed fliers around Atlanta neighborhoods denouncing the Ku Klux Klan and skinhead organizations. They also distributed fliers inviting community members to report their knowledge of local hate group activity. The group published several newsletters, including Georgia Report and Neighbor's Network Alert, detailing hate crimes and other activity around the state.

Volunteers monitored hate group activity on multiple levels, from recording sightings of known skinheads or Klan members in communities to infiltrating and reporting major rallies. Neighbor's Network volunteers were particularly dedicated to documenting the leaders of hate groups through reports and photographs of their activity. Walter Brown (W.B.) Reeves was co-chair of education and outreach for Neighbor's Network from 1989-1995, and individually infiltrated numerous rallies and meetings. He also gathered information from various groups by corresponding with them under the alias Scott Daniels.

As part of their victims assistance program, the organization helped young people leave the Nazi/skinhead community. Victims assistance also involved documenting instances of harassment, and occasionally even housesitting so that victims of attacks could sleep more peacefully in their homes. Neighbor's Network disbanded in 1995.

Scope and Content Note
The collection consists of the records of Neighbor's Network from 1936-1998 [bulk 1987-1998] and includes administrative records, subject files, printed material and photographs. Administrative records document the day to day operations of the organization, including its monitoring activities and victims assistance efforts. The series contains correspondence, financial records, mailing lists, reports, and victims assistance files, as well as various policy documents, telephone hotline logs and transcripts of conversations, and other records.

Subject files document organizations affiliated with Neighbor's Network, such as the Center for Democratic Renewal, and hate groups monitored by Neighbor's Network such as the Ku Klux Klan, Aryan groups, Neo-Nazi and skinhead organizations, and other radical or white supremacist groups. Files may include correspondence, clippings, newsletters, fliers and other printed material. Some hate group files also contain notes from Neighbor's Network monitors, though most files do not contain any evidence of infiltration by the Network. In this collection, hate groups are categorized based on the Southern Poverty Law Center's classifications. Materials relating to other radical organizations or individuals are included in an "other subject files" category.

Printed material includes material created and collected by Neighbor's Network. Printed material by Neighbor's Network includes fliers, reports and press releases published by the organization to promote their mission and inform the public about hate group activity. Also included are numerous clippings about the organization. Additionally, printed material contains fliers, newsletters, zines, clippings and other items created by or relating to hate groups monitored by Neighbor's Network. Of particular note is a photocopy of the Christian Identity Bible. The series also includes printed material from other organizations, including human rights organizations and radical or fringe groups not classified as hate groups. Photographs document rallies and other events held by the Ku Klux Klan, skinhead, and Neo-Nazi groups, and include images of white supremacist leaders such as Miles Dowling, David Irving, David Lynch, and Thomas Robb.

Arrangement Note
Organized into four series: (1) Administrative records, (2) Subject files, (3) Printed material and (4) Photographs.

Series 1
Administrative records, 1975-1996
Boxes 1 - 4, OP1

Scope and Content Note
The series consists of the administrative records of Neighbor's Network from 1975-1996, with the bulk of material from 1985-1996. The series includes correspondence, financial records, mailing lists, reports, and victims assistance files, as well as various policy documents, telephone hotline logs and transcripts of conversations, and other records. Correspondence is of a general nature and is primarily between Neighbor's Network and other organizations. Financial records are minimal, but include examples of budgets, treasurer's reports and fundraising efforts. Mailing lists in the series document members of Neighbor's Network, as well as organizations that were being monitored by Neighbor's Network. Policy documents include instructions for monitoring hate groups, as well as guidelines for volunteers and instructions for running regular meetings.

Reports make up a significant portion of the series, though they are not comprehensive. They include field reports documenting specific instances of hate group activity in Georgia and Tennessee; monitor's reports documenting infiltration of events held by hate groups; and other reports documenting meetings and conversations. Also present in the series are call logs from the Neighbor's Network telephone hotline, which record community members calling the organization to report hate group activity or ask for assistance. The series also includes detailed transcripts of conversations with a few individuals. Finally, victims assistance files document the efforts of Neighbor's Network to aid victims of hate groups, particularly members trying to leave such groups.

Series 2
Subject files, 1965-1995
Boxes 5 - 9

Scope and Content Note
The series consists of materials relating to organizations associated with Neighbor's Network and hate groups monitored by Neighbor's Network from 1965-1995, with the bulk of material between 1985-1995. Materials with earlier dates are mainly news articles collected by Neighbor's Network. The subject files may include correspondence, clippings, newsletters, fliers and other printed material. Affiliated organizations files document Neighbor's Network's relationships with similar organizations such as the Center for Democratic Renewal (CDR) and the Southern Poverty Law Center's Klan Watch branch. Files relating to the CDR document both the cooperation and tension between the two organizations, leading up to the termination of their affiliation in 1992. Of particular interest is the Religious Movement Resource Center file which provides a monthly record of hate group activity during 1993 and 1994.

Hate group files primarily document the activities of Ku Klux Klan and skinhead organizations. Some hate group files include letters to Walter Reeves addressed to his alias, Scott Daniels, or notes taken by Neighbor's Network members at infiltrated meetings. Many files show no evidence of Neighbor's Network involvement, and some files document groups located outside of the local monitoring area. Populist Party files are extensive and primarily consist of records documenting the backlash against efforts to remove the Confederate battle flag from the Georgia State Flag in the early 1990s.

Other subject files document prominent individuals such as David Irving, as well as other contemporary radical movements such as militias. There is no indication that Neighbor's Network actively monitored these groups.

Series 3

Printed material, 1936-1998

Boxes 10 - 21

Scope and Content Note
The series consists of printed material primarily created and collected by Neighbor's Network between 1989-1998, with some clippings dated as early as 1936. Printed material created by Neighbor's Network includes fliers, reports, and press releases published and distributed by the organization to promote their activities and disseminate information about hate group activity in Georgia. The series also contains numerous clippings about Neighbor's Network and its activities.

The bulk of the series consists of printed material created by other organizations and collected by Neighbor's Network and includes fliers, newsletters, print ephemera and other items from hate groups, human rights organizations, and radical or fringe groups or individuals not classified as hate groups. The series also contains clippings collected by Neighbor's Network relating to hate groups, anti-gay legislation, and fascism. The bulk, though not all, of the clippings relate to the Southeastern United States.

Arrangement Note
Organized into two subseries: (3.1) Printed material by or about Neighbor's Network, and (3.2) Printed material by other organizations.
Subseries 3.1
Printed material by or about Neighbor's Network, 1989-1995
Box 10

Scope and Content Note
The series consists of printed material both by and about the Neighbor's Network, principally from 1989-1995. The subseries includes numerous newspaper and publication references to the Neighbor's Network, as well as fliers, incident reports, and press releases the Network created. The Georgia Report is an especially noteworthy publication, as it provides a concise but complete sketch of hate group activity in Atlanta and the surrounding region during the period in which Neighbor's Network was active.

Subseries 3.2
Printed material by other organizations, 1936-1998
Box 11 - 21

Scope and Content Note
The subseries consists of printed material primarily collected by the Neighbor's Network but produced by other organizations between 1989-1995, with some clippings dated as early as 1936. The subseries includes zines, newspapers, newsletters, fliers, print ephemera, and press releases created by hate groups, organizations dedicated to monitoring hate groups, and a range of other organizations. Also included is the Southern Poverty Law Center's Klanwatch Intelligence Report from 1990-1995, and the Center for Democratic Renewal's Weekly Updates from 1987-1990. A notable range of Ku Klux Klan produced material is present, as well as a photocopy of the Christian Identity Bible and a substantial number of American Vision's publication Biblical Worldview. Flyers tend to advertise rallies or other gatherings.

The other organizations category includes printed material created by or about individuals, human rights organizations, and radical or fringe groups not classified as hate groups. Organizations with similar names are not necessarily affiliated with each other.

Arrangement Note
Arranged in alphabetical order.

Series 4
Photographs, 1987-1994
Boxes 22 - 26, BV 1 - 2

Scope and Content Note
The series consists of the photographs from 1987-1994, of rallies and other events organized by a variety of hate groups, including various iterations of the Ku Klux Klan, skinheads, and Neo-Nazi sects. Notably, the Neighbors Network took pains to photograph leaders of several major hate groups. The collection, specifically, includes photographs of prominent individuals in the hate group movement in the late 1980s and early 1990s, specifically David Lynch, David Irving, Thomas Robb, and Miles Dowling, among others. The photographs are most often from events in Georgia, however many photographs are included from rallies in Tennessee and Alabama as well.
