Collection Description

Biographical Note

Philip Pavia (1912-2005), pioneer in modern abstract sculpture, was born in Bridgeport, Connecticut, the son of a stonecutter. Pavia attended the Beaux Arts School in 1930, the Art Students League (1931-1933), and traveled and studied in Europe from 1931-1937.

In 1948 he founded the 8th Street Club in New York City, an outgrowth of the informal discussions which had been taking place at the Waldorf Cafeteria for years. The Club brought together artists from various media as well as writers and intellectuals for debates, panel discussions, lectures and other events, including dances. Members included Willem de Kooning, Barnett Newman, Robert Motherwell, Landes Lewitin, Aristodimos Kaldis, and Leo Castelli. In the wake of the perceived wartime Surrealist invasion, the Club brought together Abstractionists and Expressionists and helped give birth to the term "Abstract-Expressionism." Debates at the Club covered a variety of art and philosophy-related topics, bringing in non-members like Hannah Arendt, Joseph Campbell, and John Cage, among others. Many members and guests were also associated with the Hans Hofmann School. Pavia was the driving force at the Club, organizing and leading Wednesday and Friday night lectures and members-only panel discussions.

In 1958 he founded and edited the publication It Is: A Magazine for Abstract Art as an extension of the Club's role in exchanging ideas. The magazine was published sporadically until 1965 when it ceased due to financial difficulties. The next year Pavia formed a new club, the 23rd Street Workshop Club, that drew many of its members from the old 8th Street Club, which had since disbanded. With Pavia as organizer, the 23rd Street Club met to hear panels, lectures, and discussions from 1966-1970.

Pavia wrote a history of the 8th and 23rd Street Clubs entitled Club Without Walls which was published two years after his death in 2007. He was married to Natalie Edgar and had two sons, Paul and Luigi.

Scope and Content Note

The collection consists of the Philip Pavia and Natalie Edgar archive of abstract expressionist art from 1913-2005. The archive contains records of the 8th Street Club, the 23rd Street Workshop Club, It Is magazine, and writings, personal, and legal papers of Philip Pavia. The collection primarily documents the art, artists, and galleries of the abstract expressionist movement in New York City from 1950-1970.

Arrangement Note

Organized into eight series: (1) 8th Street Club records, (2) It Is Magazine records, (3) 23rd Street Club records, (4) Writings, (5) Printed material, (6) Legal files, (7) Personal papers and (8) Additions.

Series 1

8th Street Club records, 1950-1962

Boxes 1 - 2

Scope and Content Note

The series contains records of the 8th Street Workshop Club from 1950-1962. Records were mostly kept by Philip Pavia, who served as the club's organizer/secretary from its inception to 1955, when he left the club to work on his magazine. Materials in this series include postcards announcing the meetings and panel discussions of the club, notes from some of those panels, and general records such as membership lists, financial records, fliers, minutes, legal records, and grant applications. Researchers interested in the activities of the club should also see the drafts and notes from Club Without Walls, located in Series 4: Writings.

Arrangement Note

Arranged in record type.

Series 2

It Is Magazine records, 1957-1965

Boxes 3 - 20; OP1, OP3; AV1

Scope and Content Note

The series contains records of It Is, the art magazine created and edited by Philip Pavia, from 1957-1965. Pavia published 6 issues of It Is sporadically between 1958 and 1965. A seventh issue of the magazine was begun but never published. This series includes editorial correspondence, published and unpublished manuscripts, photographs of artwork and artists, subscription card files, layouts for issues, editorial notes, business records, and audio recordings.

The correspondence, arranged alphabetically, includes letters from subscribers and contributors. Correspondents include other artists of the abstract expressionist movement and major players in the art world such as L. Alcopley, Dore Ashton, William Baziotis, James Brooks, Norman Bluhm, Peter Busa, Alice Baber, Theo Brenson, John Cage, Charles Egan, Helen Frankenthaler, Rose Fried, Ike Getz, Michael Goldberg, Adolph Gottlieb, John Grillo, Peter Grippe, Philip Guston, Ralph Hague, Grace Hartigan, Sally Haslip, Tom Hess, Carl Holty, Paul Jenkins, Alfred Jensen, Elaine de Kooning, Aristodimos Kaldis, Franz Kline, Al Leslie, Conrad Marca-Relli, Joan Mitchell, Robert Motherwell, Richard Pousette Dart, Robert Rauschenberg, Ad Reinhardt, Milton Resnick, David Smith, Sid Solomon, Mayer Shapiro, Leo Steinberg, Mark Tobey, Jack Tworkov, and many others.

The manuscripts and photographs in this series are arranged by issue; some issues also include layout notes and mockups. This series also includes editorial notes for the magazine and early designs for the title of It Is, including one by Franz Kline that was never used. Business records consist of financial records, subscription cards, and publicity. Audio recordings in this series are of the Waldorf Panels on Sculpture and panels at Brandis and Fordham Universities. The Waldorf Panels were published in Issue #6.

Series 3

23rd Street Club records, 1966-1970

Boxes 21 - 22; AV1

Scope and Content Note

The series contains records of the 23rd Street Workshop Club from 1966-1970. The Club was a continuation of the former 8th Street Club which had disbanded in 1965. Records were mostly kept by Philip Pavia, who served as the club's organizer/secretary. Materials include postcards announcing the meetings and panel discussions of the club, audio recordings and notes from some of those panels, and general records such as membership lists, financial records, fliers, minutes, legal records, and grant applications. Pavia left the 23rd Street Club in 1969, which marked the end of the organization shortly thereafter. Researchers interested in the activities of the club should also see the drafts and notes from Club Without Walls, located in Series 4: Writings.

Arrangement Note

Arranged by record type.

Series 4

Writings, 1959-1999

Boxes 23 - 36

Scope and Content Note

This series contains published and unpublished writings by Pavia from 1959-1999. The writings include notes by Pavia, published and unpublished essays, book drafts and notes for Club Without Walls, and interviews. The bulk of this series consists of notes by Pavia on the Club and on various topics. The notes on the Club document subjects of interest at the Club and exchanges between participants. Subjects include zen, Picasso, history, abstraction, and symbol, and participants include Aristodimos Kaldis, Landes Lewitin, and Arshile Gorky. The notes on topics document Pavia's research and thoughts on such topics as stream of consciousness, space, sculpture, color, Marcel Duchamp, Hilla von Rebay, Jackson Pollock, and abstract expressionism.

The published and unpublished essays include material related to It Is articles, talks given, and Pavia's reflections on the art world. Of special note are the folders containing his manifesto on "Non-History and Art History," a distillation of his personal philosophy on art reflected in all of his other writings. The book drafts and notes for Club Without Walls are in both manuscript and typescript form and include different versions of the chapters that were included in the book and draft fragments that were not used in the book and demonstrate Pavia's process in writing the book. The interviews were given by Pavia for films and books by others and feature Pavia recounting the history of Abstract Expressionism and discussing individuals such as Hans Hofmann.

Series 5

Printed material, 1913-2005

Boxes 37 - 53; OP1-OP10

Scope and Content Note

This series contains printed material from 1913-2005, with the bulk of the material dated from 1920-1980. The series contains printed material by and about Philip Pavia, exhibition catalogs, posters, gallery schedules, invitations, press releases, clippings, and periodicals related to twentieth century art, primarily in the United States. Materials related to Philip Pavia are collected together and include art catalogs, invitations, and programs related to his work.

The exhibition catalogs, invitations, and posters that make up the bulk of the series are connected to many prominent twentieth century artists, especially the abstract expressionists. Many of the invitations fold out into posters. The posters are for exhibits of Jasper Johns, Roy Liechtenstein, Ad Reinhardt, Robert Motherwell, and Robert Smithson, among others. There are exhibition catalogs for Conrad Marca-Relli, Lee Krasner, Willem de Kooning, and Elaine de Kooning, among others, many with introductions by Frank O'Hara and Dore Ashton. Exhibition invitations and catalogs document many of the major New York City galleries from the 1950s through the 1970s, including the Betty Parsons Gallery, Robert Elkon Gallery, 55 Mercer Gallery, Leo Castelli Gallery, Sidney Janis Gallery, Richard Feigen Gallery, Dwan Gallery, and the Museum of Modern Art. The series also contains a clippings file and a number of art and literature periodicals from the 1940s-1970s, some of which are rare.

Series 6

Legal files, 1989-2000

Boxes 54 - 56

Scope and Content Note

The series contains records related to the lawsuit brought by Philip Pavia against the Willem de Kooning estate in 1993. Pavia claimed that he had cast several sculptures for de Kooning, which the estate disputed. The case was revisited in 1998 due to questions concerning a violation of the settlement in 1993. The series contains numerous court documents documenting the evolution of the case, photographs of the sculptures in question, press clippings, Pavia's notes about the case, and correspondence, mostly with Pavia's lawyers.

Arrangement Note

Arranged by record type.

Series 7

Personal papers, 1944-2002

Boxes 57 - 60; OP3

Scope and Content Note

This series contains personal and collected papers from 1944-2002. The bulk of the series contains personal correspondence of Pavia and his wife Natalie Edgar from 1944-2002. Other items in the series include address books, photographs of Pavia and other artists, subject files concerning Franz Kline and Willem de Kooning, and collected sketches by artists Alcopley, Aristodimos Kaldis, Franz Kline, Nicholas Marsicano, and Peter Agostini. The series also contains two sculptures of Leda and the Swan from the studio of Willem DeKooning (see Series 6: Legal files for more information on these sculptures).

Series 8
Additions, 1930-2005
Boxes 61-67; AV1

Scope and Content Note

This series consists of additions to the Philip Pavia papers received in 2018 and includes correspondence, printed material, writings, photographs, slides, and audiovisual material. Photographs and slides are mostly of Pavia's sculptures. Printed material includes exhibit catalogs from 1956-2005 and clippings about abstract expressionism. The audiovisual material is a WGBH interview of Pavia in 1967.

Arrangement Note

Arranged by record type.

Restrictions on Access

Use copies have not been made for audiovisual material in this series. Researchers must contact the Rose Library at least two weeks in advance for access to these items. Collection restrictions, copyright limitations, or technical complications may hinder the Rose Library's ability to provide access to audiovisual material.

Processing

This series of additions retain the original order in which they were received.
