Collection DescriptionBiographical Note

Jeffrey Babcock Perry of New Jersey is a former postal union member and active member of his local chapter of the National Postal Mail Handlers Union (a division of the Laborers' International Union of North America). He played many roles in the union, including as union shop steward, union officer, and editor of the union newspaper prior to retiring from mail handling after 33 years. He is also an independent researcher, researching and writing about labor and national and international social justice issues.

Scope and Content Note

The collection consists of the papers of Jeffrey Babcock Perry relating to his work as a labor organizer from 1968-2007 and includes correspondence, publications, and research files. The collection also contains legal briefs, depositions, strike bulletins, newsletters and other publications, memoranda, buttons, photographs, audiovisual material, born digital material, and research files relating to Perry's work on organized crime and the Laborers' International Union of North America (LIUNA). A large portion of the materials document the National Postal Mail Handlers Union (NPMHU) and the Local 300 of that organization.

Arrangement Note

Arranged by titles created and assigned to material by Jeffrey Babcock Perry.
