Collection Description

Biographical Note
Quintin E. Primo (1913-1998) was the first African American Bishop Suffragan in the Chicago Diocese of the Episcopal Church. As a priest, he championed civil rights and founded numerous social programs in the parishes he served. As Bishop, he was the first to ordain women priests in Chicago. Primo received his education from Fort Valley Normal and Industrial Institute (Albany, Georgia), Lincoln University (Lincoln, Pennsylvania), and Virginia Theological Seminary (Alexandria, Virginia). Prior to entering the priesthood in 1941, he taught high school in Florida from 1937-1940. He was married to Winifred Thompson Primo and the couple had three children: Susan Primo, Cynthia Primo Martin, and Quintin E. Primo, III.

Quintin E. Primo (1877-1958) was an African American minister who served at several churches in Georgia and Florida throughout his lifetime. Primo was born in British Guyana, but moved to the United States in the early 20th century. Between 1920 and 1931, he served churches in Liberty County and Albany, Georgia. From 1931 to 1948, he preached at several churches in Delray Beach, Florida. In 1948, he returned to Albany, Georgia and lived there until his death on February 3, 1958. His wife, Alvira Wilhelmina Wellington Primo (1892-1958), was an African American teacher and musician. The couple married in 1910 and had five children, including Margaret Ernestine Primo (1911-) who became a teacher, and Quintin E. Primo, Jr.

Scope and Content Note
The collection consists of papers relating to the Quintin E. Primo, Jr. family, including correspondence, sermons, church records, photographs, printed material, audiovisual material, and born digital material.
