Collection Description

Biographical Note
Ellis Heber Rece, educator and administrator, was born June 25, 1900 in Huntington, West Virginia, and died November 17, 1990 in Atlanta, Georgia. Rece attended Denison and Temple Universities; graduated from Marshall College (B.A., 1923) and Emory University (M.A., 1925); and served Emory as a faculty member in religion (1926-1969), Dean of Men (1935-1947, 1959-1960), and Dean of Students (1947-1959). He co-authored two books on Bible study.

Scope and Content Note
The collection consists of materials relating to Ellis Herber Rece having to do with Emory University history. It includes two letters written to Emory faculty member George P. Cuttino that contain anecdotes from the history of the University. The bulk of the collection is reminiscences (ca. 75 pages) about Emory University campus life and activities. The reminiscences include notes about the Glee Club, the Student Government Association, the Barkley Forum, student health, dormitories, student life, and religious education at Emory. They also contain observations on the growth of the university and the advent of coeducation as well as notes from and citations to the Emory Wheel (student newspaper), 1919-1965.

Arrangement Note
Arranged in alphabetical order.
