Appraisal Note

Acquired by Randy Gue, Curator of Modern Political and Historical Collections, as part of the Rose Library's holdings in Southern history and politics. Two boxes of duplicates and memorabilia, including souvenir coins and stationery were removed from the collection and returned to the Robert family. Appraisal decisions were made by Project Archivist NaVosha Copeland in consultation with Interim Head of Manuscript Processing, Sarah Quigley, and Randy Gue.

Processing

Arranged and described at the file level by NaVosha Copeland, 2017-2019. The organization of this collection was primarily devised by NaVosha Copeland during processing. However, the collection reflects a combination of Robert's and the Robert family's original order within each folder and archivist-imposed arrangement at the collection and series level.

Collection Description

Biographical Note

Lawrence Wood "Chip" Robert (1887-1976) was born in Monticello, Georgia, in 1887 to Lawrence Wood and Minne Preston (Newton) Robert. He attended the Georgia Institute of Technology (Atlanta, Georgia), graduating with a degree in Civil Engineering in 1909. In 1917, he founded Robert and Company, Incorporated in Atlanta, an architectural engineering firm focused on the industrial development of the American South. In the 1920s, the company built manufacturing plants, power plants, and sewage disposal and water treatment plants, as well as hospitals, prisons, hotels, and schools. During the Great Depression, Robert and Company spearheaded numerous public works projects across the country. In the 1940s, the company constructed the Bell B29 Bomber Plant and partnered with the Army Corps of Engineers to provide design and construction services during World War II. In the mid-twentieth century, the firm focused on commercial and military aviation, as well as civic and community projects, such as Callaway Gardens (Pine Mountain, Georgia) and the Atlanta Civic Center. The company continues to operate from its headquarters in Atlanta.

Robert was a prominent fundraiser for the Democratic Party, including for James M. Cox and Franklin Roosevelt during the 1920 presidential campaign. When Roosevelt was eventually elected President of the United States in 1932, he appointed Robert the Assistant Secretary of the Treasury in charge of Public Works. Robert served in this capacity from 1933-1936. After this, he became Secretary of the Democratic National Committee. He also served as delegate to every Democratic National Convention until 1976. He was a member of numerous professional organizations such as the American Society Civil Engineers, American Institute Electrical Engineers, and the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

Robert married Louise Godwin Ayers in 1910 and the couple had two children: Lawrence Wood Robert, III, and Louisa Ayers Robert. They divorced in 1935, and Robert married Evelyn "Evie" Walker (1909-1972). They had one daughter, Alice Birney Walker Robert. He was an avid traveler and was one of the first American businessmen to travel in the Soviet Union. He founded the Red Carpet Industrial Tour of Georgia, which was active from 1950-1976, and brought Northern businessmen to the South to attract new business partners and investors to Southern industries and businesses. Robert died in 1976.

Scope and Content Note

The collection consists of the papers of Lawrence Wood "Chip" Robert, Jr., from 1806-1976 and includes personal papers and correspondence, professional and political papers, records of engineering firm Robert and Company, and records of Robert's service in the United States Department of the Treasury. Correspondence and personal papers contain personal letters between Robert and his family and peers, his birth certificate, biographical sketches and narratives, passports, clippings of Evelyn Robert's weekly newspaper column, and photographs of the Robert family and Robert's hometown, Monticello, Georgia. The bulk of the series documents Robert's attendance of the Georgia Institute of Technology. Other professional and political papers documents Robert's career outside of Robert and Company and the United States Department of the Treasury and includes correspondence between Robert and James Farley, Robert W. Woodruff, William B. Hartsfield, Herman E. Talmadge, Monie A. Ferst, and Walter B. Spivey, as well as documentation of Robert's work with the Red Carpet Industrial Tour of Georgia, the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation, and the Georgia Warm Springs Memorial Commission. Robert and Company records include correspondence, photographs, and reports and document the engineer firm's projects with various manufacturing companies and government agencies. The United States Department of the Treasury records consist of correspondence, booklets, essays, newspaper clippings, reports, and photographs documenting Robert's service as Assistant Secretary of the Treasury and his work on New Deal initiatives during the Great Depression.

Arrangement Note

Organized into four series: (1) Correspondence and personal papers, (2) Other political and professional papers, (3) Robert and Company records, and (4) United States Department of the Treasury records.

Series 1Correspondence and personal papers, 1887-2017 (bulk 1933-1973)*Boxes 1-6, 77, 83-84, 87-89*Scope and Content Note

The series consists of the correspondence and personal papers of Lawrence Wood Robert, Jr., from 1887-1976. Correspondence primarily includes personal letters between Robert and his family including one of his daughters, Alice Birney Robert Walker, as well as his peers, including Bobby Jones and George C. Griffin, Esquire. Personal papers include his birth certificate, biographical sketches and narratives, passports, and clippings of "Eve's Rib," Evelyn Robert's weekly newspaper column. Photographs in the series contain images of the Robert family and Robert's hometown, Monticello, Georgia. The bulk of the series documents Robert's attendance of the Georgia Institute of Technology (Atlanta, Georgia), colloquially known as Georgia Tech, and his lengthy relationship with the university as an alumnus. There is a significant amount of correspondence, photographs, and printed material related to Georgia Tech. The series also contains Sammy Ikeda's English translation of the Japanese-language autobiography of Takechiyo Matsuda, as well as Matsuda's original diaries. Matsuda was a politician in Japan and served as Chair of Shugin, the lower House of representatives of the Diet of Japan, in 1969.

Series 2Other political and professional papers, 1906-1976 (bulk 1920-1970)*Boxes 7-40, 78-79, 81, 85-86, 90*Scope and Content Note

The series consists of political and professional papers from 1906-1976 and documents Robert's career outside of Robert and Company and the United States Department of the Treasury. The series primarily contains correspondence, photographs, and printed material such as booklets, brochures, flyers, newspaper clippings, and pamphlets. Correspondence is between Robert and his peers, including James Farley, Robert W. Woodruff, William B. Hartsfield, Herman E. Talmadge, Monie A. Ferst, and Walter B. Spivey. Many of the booklets, programs, and other printed materials document the professional and political organizations of which Robert was a member, including the Rotary Club of Atlanta and the Democratic National Committee. The series also contains significant documentation of Robert's international travel. There is a diary in which he recorded his experiences during his first trip in 1947 as well as correspondence, photographs, newspaper clippings, and films of trips to Indonesia, Egypt, Germany, Norway, Italy, France, China, Thailand (formerly Siam), Hawaii, and the Bahamas. The series includes additional correspondence, photographs, and printed material documenting Robert's Red Carpet Industrial Tour of Georgia, his involvement with the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation and the Georgia Warm Springs Memorial Commission, and his attendance at events, such as the Kentucky Derby and the annual James A. Farley Testimonial Dinner.

Series 3Robert and Company records, 1920-1976 (bulk 1923-1963)*Boxes 41-56, 80, 83, 91*Scope and Content Note

The series consists of the records of Robert and Company from 1920-1976 and primarily contains correspondence, photographs, and reports. The series documents Robert and Company's work with Alabama Mills Company, Anchor Rome Mills, the Atlanta Harness and Reed Manufacturing Company, the Bell Aircraft Corporation [Bell Bomber], Gainesville-Midland Railroad Company, Couch Cotton Mills, Globe Container Company, Iselin-Jefferson Company, the Stone Mountain Confederate Memorial, the Southern National Corporation and Trust Company of Georgia, and Poly-Seal Corporation, as well as government contracts with The United States Department of the Navy, the United States Department of War, and the United States Air Force Academy. The series also includes correspondence from The Robert Foundation, which was Robert and Company's charitable division. There are magazines and newspaper clippings related to architecture, engineering, and the textile industry within this series as well as several volumes of Robert and Company's newsletter, The Poplar Post.
