Processing

Processed by Stephen Enniss, Manuscripts Librarian & Literature Bibliographer, December 20, 2001.

Born digital materials processed by Dorothy Waugh, May 2014. Born digital materials are taken from three 3.5" floppy disks. Bitstream images of the disks were created using a combination of FTK Imager imaging software and Guymager imaging software. Master copies of these disk images were ingested into a Fedora instance at Emory University for long-term preservation. Individual files were extracted from disk images using FTK Imager and were scanned for viruses using McAfee's anti-virus software. Following this, the extracted files--which were Microsoft Word files--were migrated to PDF using Adobe Acrobat Pro. Files have been screened for private information. Files are stored alphabetically by file name in a single directory.

Collection DescriptionScope and Content Note

The collection consists of the papers of Matt Schaffer from 1969-1970 as well as material that documents the research and publicity of his book, Mandinka Songs and Legends, and his run for United States Senate for the state of Idaho in 1992.

The papers include original audiotape interviews conducted by Matt Schaffer in 1969-1970 with a number of poets, dramatists, and novelists associated with the cultural life of Dakar, Senegal. Among those represented are the following Senegalese, Martinique, French Guyanese, and Haitian writers: Ibrahima Ba, Moctar Bow, Aime Cesaire, Gerard Chenet, Leon-Gontran Damas, Amadou Cisse Dia, Lamine Diakhate, Bertine Juminer, Doura Mane, Felix Morisseau-Leroy, Eunice N'Daye, Ousmane Sembene, Leopold Sedar Senghor, Maurice Senghor, Ousman Soce, Paulin Vieyra, and Joseph Zobel. Also present is a single audiotape interview with the French novelist Jean-Paul Sartre. A translation by Schaffer of an interview with Annette Mbaye d'Erneville is included, although the actual interview is not included in the collection. These interviews were conducted in French and, with the exception of the N'Daye and Sartre tapes, were roughly transcribed by Matt Schaffer. In 2005, a Robert W. Woodruff Library Fellow transcribed and translated all the interviews. In addition, the collection also includes transcripts of a number of talks delivered at the All-African Cultural Festival held in Algiers in 1969, as well as a small amount of related printed material.

The collection also includes printed material published by the Georgia printer William Haynes at the Ashantilly Press; as well as the program when Léopold Sédar Senghor received an honorary degree at Oxford University, October 26, 1973 and related a newspaper clipping.

A number of items relate to Schaffer's fourth book, Mandinka Songs and Legends. The papers include audio tapes of Schaffer's research for the book, as well as CD copies of the cassette tapes and reel to reel tapes. There is an article in the Carter Center newsletter from 1999 about the work as well as a press release issued by the National Graphic Society. The born digital materials include a manuscript of the book as well as drafts of chapters.
