working on his advanced degree at Johns Hopkins University. In 1979, he started his own antiquarian and rare book firm, Charles Seluzicki Fine & Rare Books, in Portland, Oregon.

He also published a number of fine press books which combine writings by well-known authors including Katherine Dunn, Seamus Heaney, Ted Hughes, Czeslaw Milosz, Charles Simic, and many others, with skillful artists, binders, and printers to produce limited edition books and broadsides.

Scope and Content Note

The collection consists of the personal and professional papers of Charles Seluzicki from 1974-2012. Material relating to fine press books and broadsides published by Seluzicki includes correspondence, proofs, artists' mockups, and other documents pertaining to production and distribution of specific editions. The bulk of correspondence is between Seluzicki and authors, as well as artists, printers, and small presses involved in production. Most files also contain typescripts and manuscripts that the authors sent to Seluzicki; of particular note is a typescript of Seamus Heaney's "Hedge School Sonnets" (later published as "Glanmore Sonnets") and an illustration by Ted Hughes for his work Chiasmodon (1977). Other materials include printed and promotional material relating to authors, artists, and small presses; receipts; and occasionally brief reflective writings by Seluzicki.

The collection also contains administrative records of Charles Seluzicki Fine and Rare Books and documents Seluzicki's roles as collector, dealer, appraiser, and agent. Correspondence with business associations contains letters from authors, book-binders, paper suppliers, illustrators, customers, librarians, publishers, bookstore owners, and other printers. Additional literary correspondence consists of the correspondence between Seluzicki and prominent authors. Topics include both personal and business matters, as Seluzicki worked closely with many of these correspondents in numerous capacities. Many of these writers also sent manuscripts and typescripts to Seluzicki, which are arranged separately under writings. There are also subject files relating to various artists and literary projects, as well as files on author and small business archives for which he served as agent or appraiser.

Personal papers include correspondence, manuscripts and typescripts by Seluzicki and others, and photographs.

Series 2*Charles Seluzicki Fine and Rare Books records, 1975-2012*Boxes 7 - 17, OP4-OP5, and A/V 1*Scope and Content Note

The series consists of the administrative records of Charles Seluzicki Fine and Rare Books from 1975-2012 and includes material documenting Seluzicki's roles as collector, dealer, appraiser, and agent. Seluzicki kept alphabetical correspondence files relating to collecting, appraising, and selling rare books and manuscripts. Business correspondents include authors, book-binders, paper suppliers, illustrators, customers, librarians, publishers, bookstore owners, and other printers; correspondence with small businesses is kept by correspondent's last name. In the original alphabetical files, Seluzicki also kept small press correspondence, book lists, catalogues, notes, and printed material together; these have been separated and arranged into small press files for clarity. The files include material from Blocker, Mare and the M. Kimberly Press, Van Vliet; Claire, Janus Press; and numerous others.

Literary correspondence consists of the correspondence between Seluzicki and prominent authors including Susan Bullock, Katherine Dunn, Ursula LeGuin, and John Updike. Topics include both personal and business matters, as Seluzicki published and collected works by many of these correspondents. Many of these writers also sent manuscripts and typescripts to Seluzicki, which are collected separately under writings.

Seluzicki kept separate subject files relating to various artists and literary projects; these files contain correspondence, printed material, promotional material, and notes. He also kept files on author and small business archives for which he served as agent or appraiser. In this role he worked with such authors as Malcolm Crowley, Katherine Dunn, Charles Simic, and W.D. Snodgrass. General printed material consists of clippings, brochures, publication announcements, and various promotional material on topics for which Seluzicki did not keep separate subject files.
