Collection DescriptionBiographical Note

Natasha Trethewey (1966-) is an American poet and professor. She was born in Gulfport, Mississippi on April 26, 1966 to Eric Trethewey, poet and professor of English at Hollins University in Virginia, and Gwendolyn Ann Turnbough, a social worker. She is married to Professor Brett Gadsden.

Trethewey received a Bachelor of Arts in English from the University of Georgia, Athens; a Master of Arts in English and Creative Writing from Hollins University in Roanoke, Virginia; and a Master of Fine Arts in Poetry from the University of Massachusetts, Amherst. She also holds honorary degrees from Hollins University and Delta State University in Cleveland, Mississippi.

Her first book of poems, Domestic Work (2000), was selected by former Poet Laureate Rita Dove as winner of the first Cave Canem Poetry Prize. Other works of poetry include Bellocq's Ophelia (2002), Native Guard (2006), and Thrall (2012). In 2010, Trethewey published Beyond Katrina: A Meditation on the Mississippi Gulf Coast, detailing the effects of Hurricane Katrina on her family and on the African American community in which she grew up. She won the 2007 Pulitzer Prize in poetry and was the 2012 State Poet Laureate of Mississippi as well as the nineteenth U. S. Poet Laureate. In 2008, she was named the Georgia Woman of the Year and also received the Mississippi Governor's Award for Excellence in the Arts. She was inducted into the Fellowship of Southern Writers in 2009 and entered the Georgia Writers Hall of Fame in 2011.

Trethewey taught English at Auburn University in 1997 and, in 2001, joined the faculty of Emory University where she is the Robert W. Woodruff Professor of English and Creative Writing. From 2005-2006, she served as the Lehman Brady Joint Chair Professor of Documentary and American Studies, a joint appointment at Duke University and the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, and in 2009 she served as the James Weldon Johnson Fellow in African American Studies at Yale University's Beinecke Library.

Scope and Content Note

The collection consists of the papers of Natasha Trethewey from 1942-2013, including correspondence and personal papers; writings by Trethewey and others; printed material; photographs; audiovisual material; and born digital material. The collection documents her professional work as a poet and educator, as well as her personal relationships with her family and collaborations with other writers. Correspondence contains personal and professional letters, including letters between Trethewey and her brother Joel Grimmette, III, as well as literary correspondence and correspondence relating to Trethewey's publications, Pulitzer Prize award, and United States Poet Laureateship. Personal papers consist of Trethewey's diaries and notebooks, publication contracts, grant and fellowship applications, awards, and teaching files.

Writings by Trethewey include project proposals, drafts, manuscripts, and proofs of Trethewey's published works, Belloq's Ophelia, Beyond Katrina, Domestic Work, Native Guard, and Thrall; Trethewey's MFA thesis, "Dyed in the Blue"; poems published in literary magazines such as Callaloo and Waccamaw; unpublished poems; speeches from conferences, convocations, and commencements; and essays from Trethewey's time as an MFA student at the University of Massachusetts. Writings by others include writings about Trethewey such as student essays and dissertations, speaker notes and interviews; as well as draft manuscripts and poetry by others, most notably two inscribed manuscripts, Abide and Interference, by the poet Jake Adam York.

Printed material by Trethewey includes poems, editorial writing, and essays, while printed material about Trethewey consists primarily of fliers, newspaper clippings, book reviews, and magazine articles. Other printed material contains magazines not featuring Trethewey and published poems and essays by other authors such as Helen Vendler and Kevin Young. Photographs are primarily of Trethewey at conferences and book festivals. The series also includes publicity shots, as well as a photograph of Trethewey with her husband, Brett Gadsden, and with her brother, Joel Thomas Grimmette III. Audiovisual material about Trethewey includes television and radio interviews on programs such as "The News Hour with Jim Lehrer," and footage from award ceremonies, conferences, and readings. Processed born digital material includes files taken from four of Trethewey's laptop computers, along with 3.5" floppy disks and compact discs, and dates from 1980 to 2012. This material includes writings by Trethewey and others, digital photographs, and some correspondence.

Arrangement Note

Organized into seven series: (1) Correspondence and personal papers, (2) Writings by Trethewey, (3) Writings by others, (4) Printed material, (5) Photographs, (6) Audiovisual material, and (7) Born digital material.

Series 7
Born digital materials, 1980-2012
Box BD 1

Scope and Content Note

Born digital materials in this collection come from three sources: Natasha Trethewey's four personal computers, multiple 3.5" floppy disks and several compact discs. To date, all content has been processed.

Files taken from the Dell Latitude D800 date from 2003 to 2008, files taken from the Dell Latitude X300 date from 2004 to 2007, files taken from the Dell Inspiron 3800 date from 1980 to 2005, and files from the MacBook Air date from 1998 to 2012. Files taken from 3.5" floppies and compact discs date from 1980 to 2012. Content includes drafts of poetry, photographs--including a number taken on research trips, essays, and research notes. A number of notes and drafts relate to Trethewey's published collections Bellocq's Ophelia and Native Guard.

Restrictions on Access

Access to processed born digital materials is only available in the Stuart A. Rose Manuscript, Archives, and Rare Book Library (the Rose Library). Use of the original digital media is restricted. Restrictions listed for series 1 and 5 also apply to born digital material. At the donor's request, teaching materials are restricted until Natasha Trethewey's death.

Processing Note

The born digital materials currently available to researchers are from four of Trethewey's laptop computers, 40 3.5" floppy disks, and 6 compact discs. Individual files from the computers were extracted from forensic images of the hard drives using FTK Imager and were scanned for viruses using McAfee's anti-virus software. Text-based files were migrated to PDF using Adobe Acrobat Pro and image files to JPEG to create access copies. Files have been screened for private information and in some instances information has been redacted. Files have been organized into five series matching the arrangement of the collection's paper component: 1) Correspondence and personal papers; 2) Writings by Trethewey; 3) Writings by others; 4) Printed material; and 5) Photographs.

File and directory names were maintained, and the original laptop directory structures have been replicated. In cases where Natasha Trethewey originally grouped files into directories by book title or project, the complete directory will be located in the most relevant series. When necessary, a Writings by others folder was added to distinguish writings from Trethewey's own work when this is otherwise unclear.
