Collection Description

Biographical Note
Edwin D. Tuttle was a private in Company G of the 26th Virginia Infantry Regiment, Wise Brigade, Army of Northern Virginia.

Scope and Content Note
The collection consists of letters of Edwin D. Tuttle from 1862-1872, with most from 1862-1864. Tuttle's letters to his family document his Civil War service in Virginia and points on the south Atlantic coast in South Carolina, Georgia, and Florida. Described are military camps and army life, conditions in the states through which Tuttle passed, troop movements, his letter writing for illiterate comrades, skirmishes, and his capture (1865). Frequently mentioned is Tuttle's brother, Jerome, who also served in Company G. Two 1872 letters describe Tuttle's search for employment and payment of back taxes.

Arrangement Note
Arranged in chronological order.
